

STANLEY PARK

Take over 1000 acres of forested land on a peninsula in the Pacific Northwest, near a world class city, and put in wonderful paths with public areas and you have a magical place known as Stanley Park Vancouver, British Columbia. Home of the Squamish people for hundreds of years, the peninsula where the first Europeans landed, in this area. Foresight of the city planners kept this area in a near pristine condition as the city grew up around it. Today Stanley Park is an irreplaceable and un-duplicable feature that sets Vancouver apart from any city in the world. It is the site of numerous memorials, monuments, and celebrations—including the 2010 Olympic Torch Relay. Stanley Park is the focal point of Eric's new "Painting the Town" piece for Vancouver.

1. Canada Place—cruise port in Vancouver
2. Pan Pacific Hotel of Vancouver
3. Vancouver Convention Center
4. Harbour Center Tower
5. Waterfront Center
6. HMCS Discovery on Deadman's Island
7. Seaplanes, like the DeHaviland Otters and Beavers are all over.
8. Vancouver Chevron, a landmark
9. The Runner—statue of Harry Jerome
10. Home stomping ground for Skookum aka. Sasquatch.
11. Ben Hunter—GM of Miku restaurant and our sushi chef. Vancouver consumes the most sushi per capita.
12. Jacqueline Blackwell—Manager Grouse Mountain and Eric's BeaverTail buddy.
13. Jamie—tour guide to Edible Vancouver Market
14. Darren Sym—Vancouver Aquarium
15. Daren Clark—Seaplane pilot for Whistler Air
16. Jerome Dudicourt—knows how the sausage is made at Oyama Sausage Co.
17. Shoel Davidson and Christina Cottell from the Gringo Gastown Restaurant.
18. Brad taught Eric the sport of curling.
19. Eric's waitress from Troll's Restaurant
20. Greg Pepler—Eric's guide around Vancouver
21. THOR, with his mighty, mystical hammer.
22. Ilanaaq the Inuksuk mascot of the 2010 Vancouver Olympics
23. It's Canada Goose—not Canadian Goose, just saying.
24. The Totem Poles in Stanley Park are world renowned.