SCARECROW FESTIVAL

It's time for Billy Bob's Scarecrow Festival! You may jump a bit as scarecrows of all shapes and sizes greet you and all your dressed up friends, but don't worry most of them are friendly...I think. Oh!

Don't forget to explore the corn maze and the haunted forest with everyone, especially as the setting sun glows through the spooky trees casting their shadows and giving way for the night.

Enjoy this fun painting with family and friends because it's something to scream about!

1. This painting is a tribute to the disappearing family farms, where memories have been made with loved ones.
2. Trust me, a haunted forest is WAY scarier than any haunted house, especially with the sunlight fading and night approaching.
3. Corny Bob Scarecrow look tasty. I wonder if the crows will eat him?
4. Cassy is trying a new technique in scaring the crows way by standing REALLY still and when they appear, banging her pot hat loudly.
5. Raggedy Ann Crow loves watching her pumpkins grow big and strong. Maybe she will win the pumpkin contest this year.
6. Danny is your classic scarecrow, blue hat, red shirt, yellow pants, but the most important part of a scarecrows outfit is his red and white striped socks.
7. Billy Bob's Punkin's—come on, it's so much cuter saying "punkin."
8. "Birds of a feather stick together."
9. Snowman Crowman is known as the coolest and toughest scarecrow around, after all, he sits in the sunlight with a leather jacket and still manages to keep his round shape.
10. Children of the Corn Scarecrow . . . I'm scared.
11. Corn Mazes, where spooks appear, whispers are heard, and around every corner is something waiting for you.
12. Looks like this witch's spell backfired on her.
13. That is an interesting costume you have there, girly.
14. You and your mates are heading for trouble. Look ahead at your eye patch friend.
15. Turn around before it's too late!
16. I hope that horse is fast enough to escape the corn maze after dark.
17. I wonder how this skeleton scarecrow got here . . .
18. Hear ye, Hear ye, The Billy Bob's Amazing Corn Maze welcomes all scarecrows, humans, and monsters alike! Keep to the path and nothing will attack you . . . hopefully.
