

KEY WEST

As the southernmost tip of the Florida Keys lies the beautiful island of Key West. Enjoy the fun of this lively and colorful painting as you imagine yourself snorkeling with the fish, enjoying the sandy beaches and basking in the sun—and don't forget eating a piece of Key Lime Pie!

1. Key West Light House and Keepers Museum stands as a monument to the island's maritime heritage and those who once kept the lighthouse lit through war and weather.
2. The Artist House—former residence of Robert Eugene Otto.
3. Coconut Palms—aaaaah, yes, the tropics.
4. Casa Caya Hueso—The Southern Most House bed and breakfast.
5. Conch Houses are Key West benchmarks.
6. The southernmost point in the United States is marked by this famous buoy.
7. Key Lime Pie is a must taste while here—often imitated but never duplicated.
8. Free roaming chickens roam the streets of Key West.
9. How can you not be a happy in Key West?
10. Umm . . . though spelled conch it is pronounced 'konk.'
11. Dolphins love playing US football!
12. The rare bubble gum fish captured in perfect detail.
13. Eric claims this is a real fish or is it just artistic license?
14. These fish live in the keys . . . get it . . . the keys.
15. Key West and Cuba are only 90 miles apart—kissing cousins.
16. Marlin's prefer baseball over US football.
17. Florida Gators prefer fresh water.
18. The Florida State Seminoles football team started in 1902.
19. Florida is only second to Brazil in producing global orange juice.
20. Eric met some Canadian tourists and put them in.