

MONSTER SPRAY

Is your child afraid of monsters at bedtime? Mix up a bottle of monster spray and blast those monsters away before bedtime.

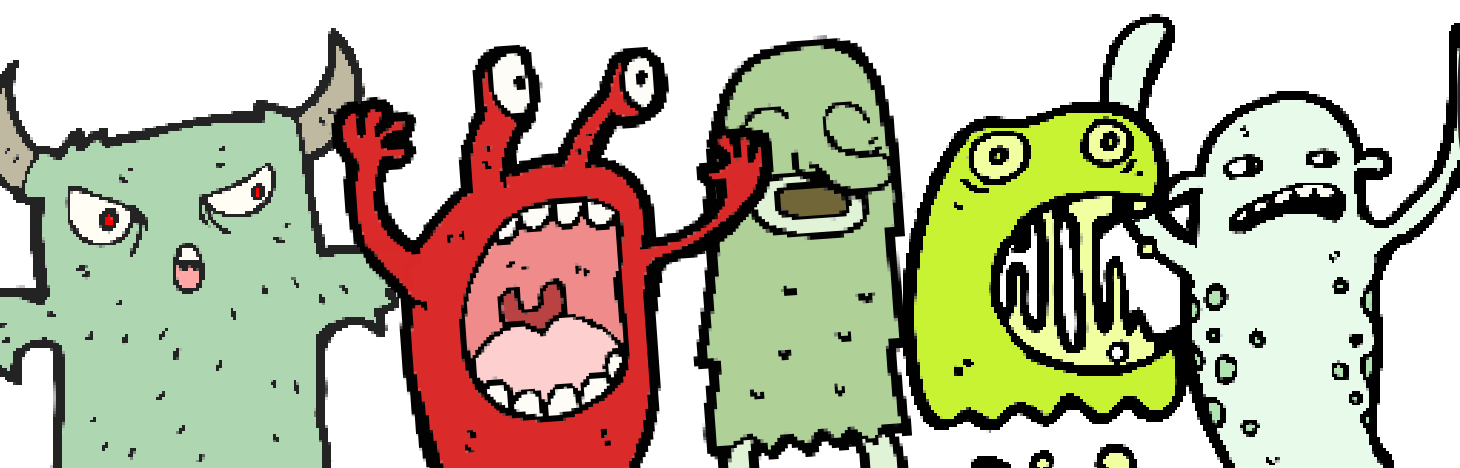

Its up to you whether you involve your kids in making the spray up.

What you will need:

- Refillable Spray Bottle (The $2 shop has these)
 - Water (aka super special monster fighter)
- Essential Oil (Lavender, peppermint or other)
 - Printed bottle template on the next page

At bedtime, let your child spray away those monsters by spraying under the bed, in the doorway, around the windows etc. Place the bottle on the bedside table so they can use in the night if they are scared.

A night light is a great idea to shed a little light and not have such a dark room.

MONSTER SWATTER

After an alternative to the Monster Spray?
How about a Monster Swatter??

What you will need:

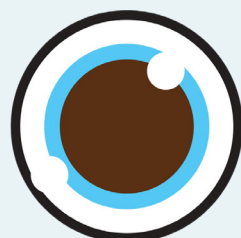

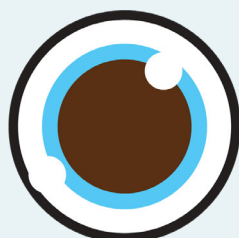

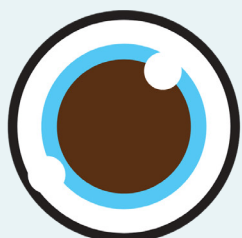

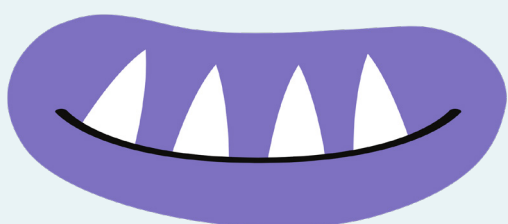

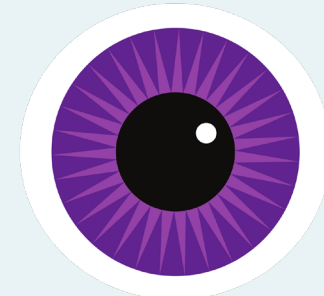

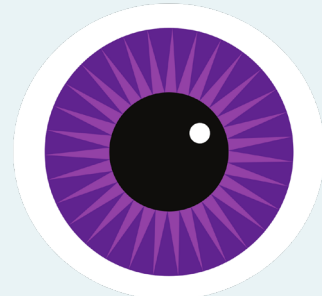

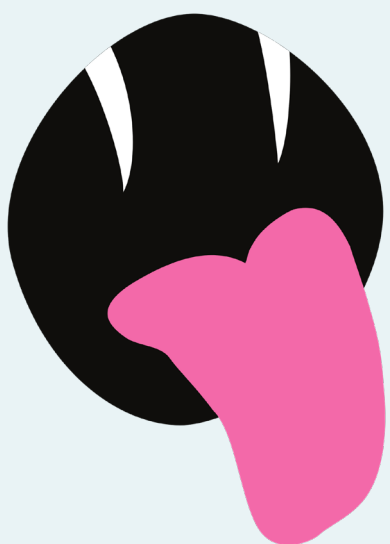

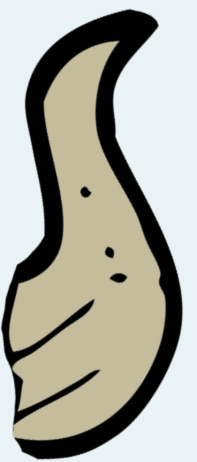

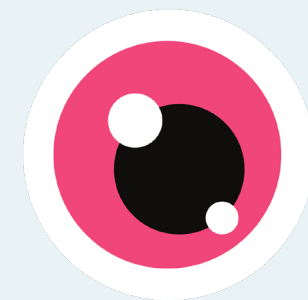

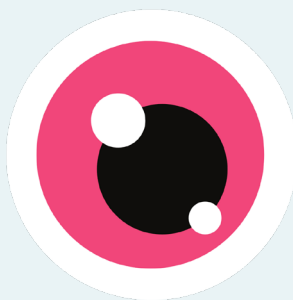

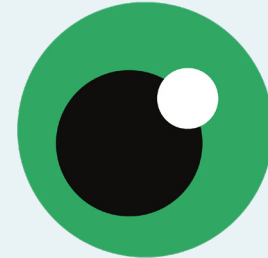

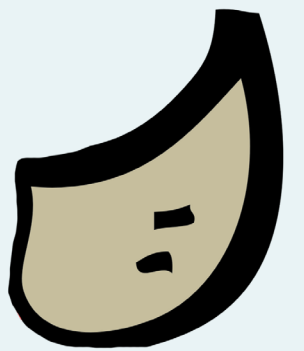

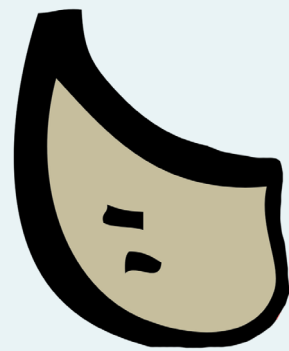

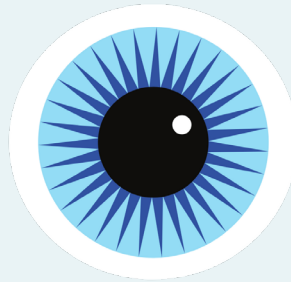

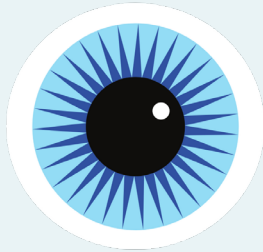

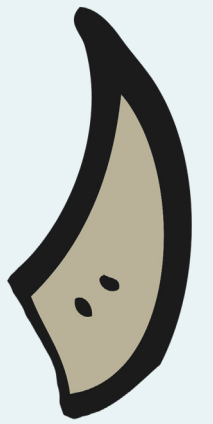

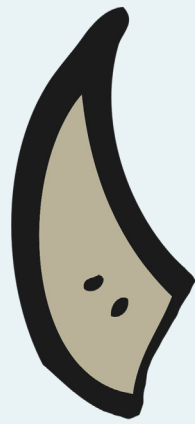

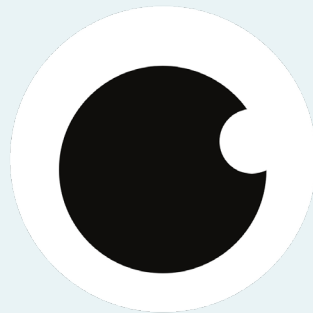

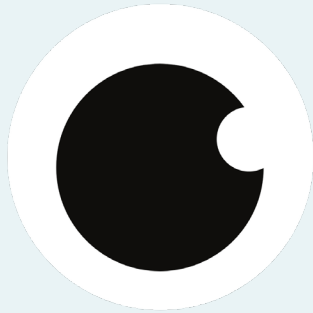

- A new fly swatter
- Monster cut outs (next page)
- Monster stickers (optional).

At bedtime, Let your child swat away those monsters.
Place the swatter on the bedside table so they can use in the night if they are scared.

MONSTER SWATTER

Cut out the different parts and stick them on your swatter!

FAIRY DUST

Fairy dust is great for attracting fairies to watch over and protect your child from monsters. But – it does make a mess, so only use if you are prepared to clean it up.

What you will need:

- A bottle with a cork or screw lid (a spice shaker is a good idea!)
 - Talcum Powder
- Glitter (essential but messy!)
 - Printed bottle label
- Fairy stickers (optional).

Pour into bottle and shake!

At bedtime, let your child spread a little fairy dust under their bed, in the door way and around the window to ensure the fairies will be there to keep the monsters away.
