

To my Child

You asked if we are Santa Claus and we have decided that you are now old enough to understand the true meaning of Santa. We have given it careful thought to know just what to say!

To answer your question - No, we are not Santa. Santa isn't just one person, Santa is SO much more. Santa is lots and lots of people who help keep Christmas alive with love and magic in their hearts.

Santa is the MAGIC of Christmas, the love and spirit of giving to others and believing in something you can't see or touch.

Throughout life you will need to learn to believe in things you can't see, touch or hold. This includes believing in yourself, your family and your friends and Santa has been teaching you to believe in these things since you were little.

So what does this mean? This means that we have the magic, love, hope, happiness and spirit of Christmas and Santa in our hearts, along with many many others in the world. We share that magic of Santa with you by filling your stockings and wrapping your presents under the tree. Our parents shared the magic of Santa with us in this same way and one day you will share the magic of Santa with your children the same way. Now you understand how he delivers all the gifts to children around the world, he has help from those who's hearts are filled with joy!

Now that you know the true magic of Santa you are apart of the team that will continue to create such joyful memories for those younger than you. You must promise not to tell them the secret of Santa until they are ready.

Love From Your Parents
