

Joel Pratley/Act for Peace

On your behalf, a family in Zimbabwe has been given the gift of farmyard animals including rabbits, chickens and turkeys.

This incredible gift is absolutely life-changing! As part of this gift, farmers will also receive specialised training on how to raise, care for and breed small farm animals. With this Gift for Peace, you are providing a family with a livelihood, a way of generating an income and improving food security for themselves and others in their community.

The additional income enables families to supplement their diets with fruit and vegetables which can be difficult to grow in Zimbabwe's harsh climate. Parents can also use it to pay for their children's school fees.

“I feel very happy because my family is always happy when we have food in the home.” – Nyevero, a mother and farmer in Zimbabwe.
