

Zimbabwe

A pair of goats

ACT FOR PEACE
CONFRONTING INJUSTICE TOGETHER
THROUGH THE ACTIONANCE

Joel Pratley/Act for Peace

The gift of a pair of baby goats has been given to a person living with a disability in Zimbabwe.

A pair of goats

Traditional farming methods like ploughing fields can be incredibly difficult for people living with a disability, but rearing goats is possible! This life-changing gift provides an opportunity for a person living with a disability to support themselves and contribute to their household; empowering them with a sense of purpose and pride.

“Having goats has meant that I was able to save and buy myself a special bike that has given me my freedom to move about despite having a disability. I can now visit my friends and go to school.” – Patrick*, teenage boy living with a clubfoot, Zimbabwe.

Your gift of two baby goats can make a world of difference for an entire family. Just two goats can transform a family’s future; not only do they provide milk, but they create manure which can be used on crops, and any baby goats can be sold to buy other essentials.

The international humanitarian agency of the
National Council of Churches in Australia | ABN 86 619 970 188

*Patrick’s name has been changed to protect his identity as a minor.