

PLACES

83 Somewhere That's Green

On Paris rooftops, a landscape architect has created gardens wilder and warmer than those found below.

By Kurt Soller Photographs by Marion Berrin

86 Interlopers

Empires have been made and unmade thanks to spices.
Turmeric, which is native to South and Southeast Asia but now grows in Nicaragua before being shipped to the States, is the latest one to make unexpected connections across lands.
By Ligaya Mishan
Photographs by Kyoko Hamada Styled by Suzy Kim

THINGS

89 Romancing the Stone

Vibrant jewelry pieces with rubies, beryls and sapphires set side by side. Photographs by Anthony Cotsifas Styled by Haidee Findlay-Levin

94 Are You Now or Have You Ever Been a Designer?

The curious case of the United States government's influence on 20th-century design. By Nikil Saval

98 Rough Draft

In a workshop in northwestern France, what starts as a simple wooden box ends up as one of Louis Vuitton's iconic Petite Malle handbags.

By Nancy Hass
Photograph by François Coquerel

100 The Thing

From Tiffany & Co., an aquamarine and diamond necklace sure to catch even the dimmest of light.

By Nancy Hass
Photograph by Mari Maeda and
Yuji Oboshi

Styled by Chloe Daley

102 Another Thing

A stainless-steel Vacheron Constantin watch that defies gravity. By Nancy Hass Photograph by Adam Kremer Styled by Todd Knopke

Upcoming Issues, 2020:

Women's Fashion February 23 Culture April 19

Men's Fashion March 8 Travel May 17

Design & Luxury March 22