Overflow Capacity & Wax Weight

Overflow capacity is measured in fluid ounces. Wax weight is measured to fill point. Fill point is measured 0.5" from top of glass. Wax weight is calculated using a conversion of .88 x fluid ounce. Customer fill point and wax density will affect wax weight capacity. All wax weights and capacities are approximate and for reference only.

Shape Change

and custom contours

Create exclusive looks and lines without the traditionally large investment in tooling, time and product quantities. Anchor Hocking's Shape Change™ and Custom Contours™ programs are especially designed to provide enhanced efficiency. The examples grouped on the following pages have all been created using shared tooling.

So whether your goal is a custom look, a seasonal vessel, or a new family of products, Anchor Hocking helps every step of the way from ideation through production. With Anchor Hocking's creative engineering, you are able to develop products quickly and efficiently; allowing you to keep pace with an ever-changing and competitive marketplace.
