

Custer State Park

FOUR SMALL RESERVOIRS IN Custer State Park—Legion, Sylvan, Bismark, and Center lakes—are stocked with rainbow trout. Stockade Lake has yellow perch, largemouth and smallmouth bass.

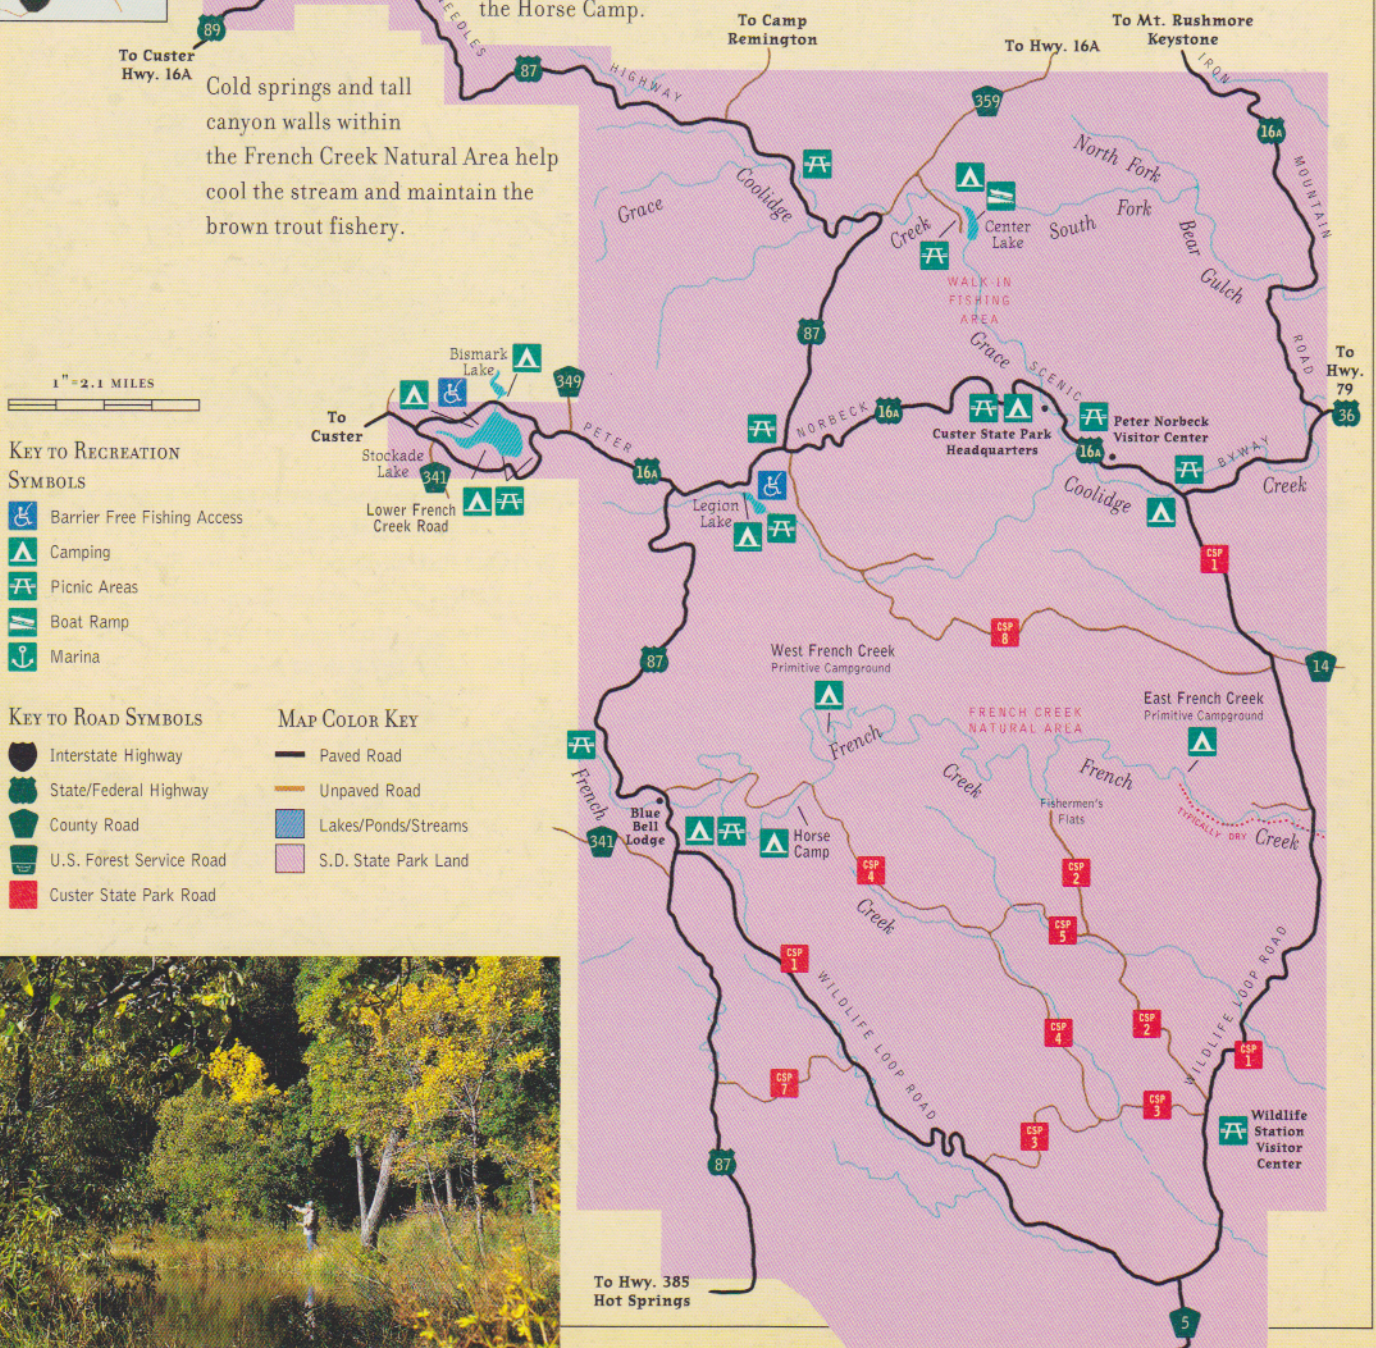

Grace Coolidge Creek contains an abundant population of wild brook trout. The stream and a series of lowhead dams below Center Lake are stocked with rainbow trout.

The entire reach of French Creek from Stockade Lake through the French Creek Natural Area is a brown trout fishery. During dry years, the water becomes too warm to maintain much of the fishery upstream of the Horse Camp.

Cold springs and tall canyon walls within the French Creek Natural Area help cool the stream and maintain the brown trout fishery.
