CORK: A SUSTAINABLE CHOICE FOR COMFORT

The outer bark of the cork tree is harvested without compromising the life of the tree, allowing a new layer of cork to regenerate once every 9 years. FUN FACT: Cork trees have a lifespan of up to 200 years!

Munro's footbed partners use the excess cork from other products such as wine stoppers to make our footbeds. Other examples of how cork is used include flooring, bulletin boards, and hats.

The excess material is ground up and mixed with latex to be refashioned into our comfortable footbeds in a variety of sizes and widths.

Our cork footbeds feature anatomically molded arches that provide exceptional support with foam and suede layered on top to create additional cushioning for the foot.
