How to Rock Men's Leggings with Style

Nope. Men's leggings aren't just for the gym. You can sport them almost anywhere—at the club, on the trail, at festivals, or at Sunday brunch. And why not? The right meggings (keyword: right) are comfortable, practical, and stylish. So here are a few style tips on how to wear men's leggings—a must-have item in your athleisure wear wardrobe.

Play up the layered look.

Whether it's merely a fashion statement or you're trying to stay warm (but not too warm), layered outfits aren't just practical, they're always in style. Go dapper by pairing dark leggings with a loose-fitting jacket or cardigan. Or create an edgier look with pattern leggings, combat boots, an oversized coat, and sunglasses. There are no rules besides the ones you create for yourself.

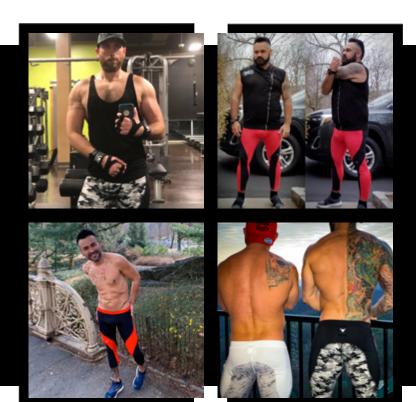

Accessorize.

There are countless ways to accessorize men's leggings. It all depends on your unique style. Add some flair to your leggings look with a scarf, hat, and old school sneakers or flashy running shoes. Play around with different looks and be your own trendsetter. Don't forget to add the finishing touches with a watch and some jewelry or a belt or chest bag.

QUICK STYLE TIPS:

- Mix leggings with items from your weekend wardrobe.
- Dress up men's leggings with a blazer, cardigan, or oversized coat.
- Invest in a pair of dressed-up runners to elevate your leggings look.
- Don't forget to accessorize with hats, watches, and jewelry.

Keep it simple.

A simple form-fitting t-shirt or tank top over leggings can give you some serious swagger. (And if you're feeling daring, this Skank Tank can reveal a little side "moob" and maybe an occasional nip slip.) If you want more coverage, opt for a Hoodie Tank that falls below the waist—there's nothing wrong with leaving a little to the imagination! (But there's also nothing wrong showing it all off.)

Dress leggings up.

Swap out the hoodie for a bomber jacket or blazer. Throw on a pair of dark-colored leggings, a V-neck, and leather ankle boots or loafers. Then stroll into your favorite lounge or gastropub like you own the place.

Be bold and shine bright.

Express yourself with bright, bold colors and patterns. The louder, the better, we say. You'll no doubt turn heads, but isn't that the point?

Break rules by mixing prints and colors.

Matching and coordinating are two different animals. While we all love a good head-to-toe matching set, it's 2020—and fashion rules were made to be broken. Mix prints, patterns, colors, and styles and give your meggings a chance to experience life on the wild side.

Don't be afraid to wear pink.

What screams "I've got massive balls" (literally, figuratively, or both) than pairing some leggings with a pink top? Not much...

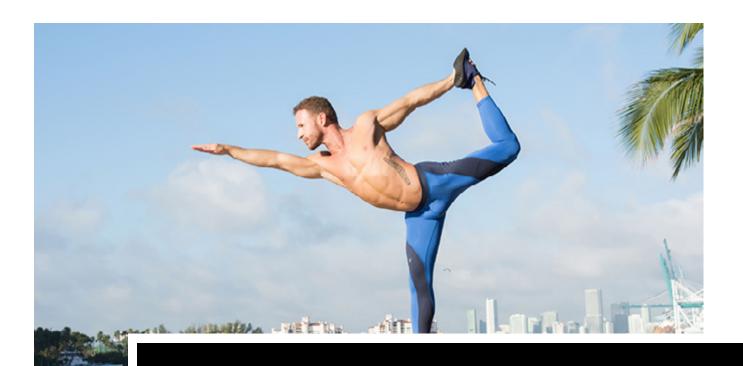

Bare it all.

Forget about what other people think and focus on what matters: your performance and comfort. For your top half, go shirtless and be totally carefree while you're working out, shooting hoops, or dancing at a festival. When it comes to your bottom half, wearing leggings without shorts is more comfortable. And it can help you improve your technique while doing squats, lunges, and other lower body moves. Without all that extra fabric in the way you can really see the biomechanics of your movements.

Matador's No-VPL (visible penis line) Technology™ means no worries about revealing too much. Our molded crotch cup keeps your goodies concealed and supported. Functional pockets hold your phone and wallet, and a t-shirt/towel loop in the back helps you secure your favorite tee or towel when you're out for a jog or making the rounds at a festival.

About Matador Meggings

Matador Meggings was born out of the idea that guys should have access to quality leggings made specifically for the male anatomy, and they should wear them with confidence, just like the original bullfighters of Spain. Our signature men's leggings are made with sweat-wicking performance fabric and offer a soft molded crotch cup with No-VPL* TechnologyTM (*visible penis line), which conceals the groin department and offers support where it counts. Numerous features like an open pocket for a phone, a zipper pocket for valuables, and a t-shirt/towel loop make these meggings functional for the modern man's needs.
