Eyeing Ireland over eight days

Innovative Travel's MD, Robyn Galloway, has just completed an Innovative Travel eight-day Unforgettable Ireland coach tour and says tourism on the island is bouyant.

Having experienced the product first hand, Galloway assures agents that it is an easy sell.

'The Dublin hotels are centrally located for both the first and last nights of the tour. Coach numbers are limited to 29 clients, an ideal size for the logistics of Irish roads and allowing easier access at key sites. Tours typically attract a mixed demographic from 40 years upwards, with clients enjoying both touring and exploring on foot.'

She says visiting the EPIC Emigration Museum in Dublin was a highlight. 'This interactive museum brings to life both the past and more recent Irish story.'

Other highlights include Ring of Kerry, the Cliffs of Mohar, Galway and Limerick.

A medieval night is included at Bunratty Castle, formerly a 15th-century tower house, as part of the current Innovative Travel special earlybird Irish dealalong with a Jaunting Car Ride in Killarney National Park.
