Supporting our South Australian makers

Originally based at the Jamfactory Contemporary Craft and Design, Shantala Chung Gon has a wealth of knowledge in mentoring, managing and marketing Australian artists and designers.

Founded on a long-standing passion for art, design and 'beautiful things', Shantala and her team at CoCo support new, independent artists and makers, who have completed their associate-ship, and are ready to enter the marketplace.

CoCo's philosophy is to celebrate the importance of local Australian artists by promoting and exhibiting them in Australia and globally, through commercial and private clients. We fully endorse the skills and creativity of our artists and know our clients will receive high-quality, unique and expertly-finished pieces.

"We foster the relationship between art and people engaging with our clients and by maintaining close relationships with our artists. SA Training Awards

The CoCo team had the pleasure of designing and making the 2022 SA Training Awards for the Department for Industry, Innovation and Science.

Our collaboration was with BRRG designs, headed by Rebecca Hartman Kearns, who came up with a new and unique technique to combine bio-resin with recycled glass to create these beautiful awards.

Testimonial

The team at Contemporary Connoisseur were lovely to work with and made the whole process seamless from start to finish. It was important to us to support a South Australian company that advocates for local artists, and Shantala and her team's expertise, quality of work and attention to detail were second to none.

They tailored the trophy to our awards, creating a freeflowing design that made each trophy unique while fitting with the overall theme.
