Though born in the US, Nadine Ghosn bares Lebanese-Brazilian descent but owes the inspiration for her jewelry to her rich multicultural background. She has spent her life living between Tokyo, Hong Kong, Paris and New York and uses her jewelry to creatively anchor the experiences, memories, and people she has met along the way into chic and accessible pieces.

After pursuing a dual degree in Economics and Art at Stanford University, Nadine then received a GIA certification, worked in Boston Consulting Group's Luxury Goods Practice, and completed a management rotation through Luxury Maison Hermès. Her career path celebrates the union between creativity and business. Today, Nadine is leveraging her past experience to launch her namesake brand, Nadine Ghosn Fine Jewelry, epitomizing modern luxury.

Rose gold is her signature; the perfect balance of femininity and elegance.

Nadine's personality is translated into her dual collection debut: Bare and Vie.
