

Wall mount / Cable holder

The wall mount supplied with the Elmec EVduty charging station is designed to also serve as a charging cable holder. Its minimalist but versatile shape is designed to allow for optimized cable storage when it is not in use.

The wall mount creates a space between the back of the charging station and the wall on which it is installed. This space perfectly matches the width of the charging cable for a tight and stable fit. The height of this space was also calculated so that the user can wrap the cable three times around the charging station when storing it, thus ensuring that once suspended the cable drapes at an ideal length.

Note: If you are not using a plug holster, it is important to make sure that the plug is pointing down and not touching the ground once the cable is wrapped around the charging station.
