"Since starting my Goedhuis Cellar Plan 6 years ago I have been lucky enough to taste and learn about a huge variety of wines from across the world. This has enabled me to build a tailored cellar that I will enjoy with friends and family in years to come. Their service has been both personal and professional and their passion for wine really shines through. I cannot recommend it more. "Toby Hudson

"I have been buying wine with Goedhuis for a number of years and I've found their advice and guidance invaluable throughout. As well as buying wine independently, I have used their Cellar Plan as a way of drip feeding more unusual and different cases into my collection that I may have previously overlooked. With their expertise you can always rely on them making the right decisions to suit your needs." Tom Morrison

"If you have an interest in wine then I cannot recommend Goedhuis more highly. The Goedhuis Cellar Plan is the perfect way to improve your knowledge and build your dream cellar. I started my cellar over 5 years ago and I am working towards creating a balanced collection, for both investment and future drinking. Over the past few years I have learnt a great deal. The team are always extremely helpful and knowledgable and have helped me develop my cellar whilst introducing me to new wines I would not have previously considered. I hope this is just the start..."

PRACTICALITIES

A preliminary discussion will establish your goals, the appropriate level of investment and your wine preferences.

The recommended monthly payment is from £50 to £150 to build a drinking cellar. If you are looking to build an "investment" cellar, we recommend a monthly payment of £250 or more.

Many people invest a one-off lump sum to get their cellar off to a flying start. This allows the purchase of some older, or higher value wines.

WINE INVESTMENT

Historically, wine as an investment was as simple as buying two cases and then selling one in five years' time to pay for them both. Today, using wine as an investment is something that savvy investors are doing more and more.

Diversifying an investment portfolio away from stocks and shares into an asset that is tangible and finite can be a great attraction. By having a physical asset in your name that becomes more desirable with time, due to diminishing supply and increasing demand, means that, with the correct advice and approach, fine wine as a collectable asset can be turned into an profitable investment.

All wines for investment should be purchased through a reputable established merchant or broker whose expertise you trust.

Ensuring your wine is professionally stored under bond guarantees provenance in the event of resale. It also means that duty and VAT are suspended i.e. not paid on purchase or sale. Only if you take your wine out of 'bond' for delivery do these taxes become payable.

Furthermore, as a tangible asset with a finite life-span, wine is classified as a wasting asset and a chattel and can be exempt from Capital Gains Tax.

Please note: We recommend that prior to investing in wine you visit www.hmrc.gov.uk or take independent financial advice, as we are not a financial institution and are not able to give financial advice.
