SKIN CARE

- Do not carry your doll by holding it under the armpits (Doing so increases the risk of tearing the skin).
- Always return your doll back to a neutral position lying down, with back on the surface, arms down by her sides and legs closed after use.
- Do not place your doll with items containing inks, such as newspapers, magazines, dark-colour material or leather materials containing oil-soluble pigments.
- Avoid the poor quality clothes where the colors come off easily. For brand new clothing, always wash and dry completely.
- Check the label of the clothing to assess whether the color can come off.
- Test the piece of clothing before using it.
- Do not massage or compress your doll with excessive strength.
- Do not expose your doll to direct sunlight to prevent aging.
- Use water-based lubricant only during intercourse to prevent tearing of the skin.
- Clean your doll regularly: once or twice a month and every time you use it. We recommend using water and neutral soap to clean your doll. Please do not use chemicals, alcohol or any other general stain removers.
- Avoid the use of hot water (under 40°C) when cleaning your doll.
- Very gently wipe your doll's face with a wet cloth; do not rub the face with wet cloth as it might remove the original make-up.
- Gently pat dry after cleansing, and lightly dust your doll with "pure cornstarch" based powder. Do not use a hair dryer or other heat source to blow dry your doll.

SKELETAL CARE

Your doll has a metal skeleton with several fixed and movable joints that allow your doll to be flexible and perform a wide range of poses. The following diagrams show the flexibility of each movable part and proper movements of your doll. Please follow the instructions for safe use and prevent misuse.

1. Head, neck:

The neck can move back, forth, left and right for maximum of 30 degrees. The head can rotate left and right for maximum of 30 degrees.

2. Arms:

The shoulders of your doll can move up and down for no more than 80 degrees. It can also move back and forth for no more than 75 degrees.

3. The elbows and wrists:

The doll's elbows can move up and down for no more than 60 degrees. It can rotate in one direction for no more than 60 degrees. The movement restrictions are set on the skeleton; the forearms can't bend or rotate in the other directions (just like a real woman). The doll's wrists can bend up and down for no more than 65 degrees.

4. Legs

The hips can move up and down for maximum of 100 degrees. It can move left and right for no more than 65 degrees. However, we don't recommend opening the doll's hips too wide as the action can produce extreme pulling force on the doll's skin which can cause damage.

5. Knees and ankles:

The knee can move back and forth for maximum of 100 degrees. They have mechanical displacement restrictors and cannot bend forward.

The doll's ankles can rotate up and down for no more than 45 degrees.

6. The body and waist:

The waist can bend back and forth for maximum of 30 degrees. It can twist left and right for maximum 30 degrees. When the waist is bent and twisted at the same time, the angle limits in all directions will be reduced to the maximum of 15 degrees.
