

Dear Patient,

The cosmetic surgery industry has undergone a rapid, fascinating change over the past ten years. Recent press headlines show botox and dermal filler injections being restricted, even banned, for those under the age of 18.

In the noughties, big lips and cheeks were reserved for extreme characters such as Jocelyn Wildenstein. Nowadays, mainstream TV and social media are bringing this look back with a vengeance.

Cosmetic doctors, clearly as mad about the treatments as the patients themselves are, have created this whole new 'modernised' aesthetic. In previous years, patients undergoing such wild transformations would have been labelled as 'body dysmorphic'. Today, however, it seems to be the go-to for body modification treatments. Is that really what you're after though?

Maybe it is if you're hooked on social media; trying to resemble those reality TV stars on Love Island, idolised by the masses. For those of you with yourselves in mind, there are better alternatives.

Cosmetic Botox banned for under-18s in England after spike in youngsters seeking 'Instagram face' - Sky News

The Prager Clinic

Our founder, Dr Michael Prager. He has over 20 years of cosmetic experience and is recognised as one of Europe's most skilled practitioners of cosmetic medicine.

Here at the Prager Clinic, we feel a bit more self-assured about the treatments we provide. Most of you are looking to maintain your natural beauty. Be it keeping your skin as healthy as possible, or preventing the onset of skin ageing.

The issue is, it's almost impossible to find a Doctor you can trust. The number of people wanting more and more is growing, and most practitioners are only too happy to oblige for their self-benefit. Let's call it getting high on their own supply...

We have only you in mind. Our social environments make it important for us to look a certain way, retaining our health and youth, whether it's out in public or during our Zoom meetings.

Not to worry, we'll have you looking great in person and on-screen in no time!

Leaving our clinic, you should not only look great but feel great too. If you haven't stopped by to see us yet make a plan to head our way soon. Book your appointment with us today for your free consultation. We can't wait to see you soon.