What is turmeric?

Turmeric has been used in health remedies for thousands of years, and research is revealing some major health benefits associated with this well-known golden spice. Turmeric contains natural compounds called curcuminoids, the most well-known being curcumin, which is highly regarded amongst herbalists and natural health practitioners for its anti-inflammatory, antioxidant qualities.

Why choose our turmeric?

Lily & Loaf's Turmeric is a blend of turmeric and turmeric root extract which provides 95% curcuminoids - the highest concentration available. Curcumin is the active ingredient in turmeric - on its own turmeric contains a low level of curcumin, which is why this formula includes a powerful blend of turmeric and turmeric root extract, offering a much higher concentrate of curcumin, along with Black Pepper (piperine) which greatly enhances the absorption of curcumin.
