

BLACK HAWK ELECTRIC

Refunds and Cancellations Policy

Cancellations prior to shipping:

All orders are processed through to our warehousing team automatically once your order is received to ensure an expedited delivery. Due to the extremely low latency from order to dispatch there is generally no option for the order to be cancelled prior to shipping. If the order is received at a time that allows a customer's cancellation request to be processed by Black Hawk staff (such as over a weekend or if the order is a pre-order) we are able to process the cancellation and refund in full. If the order is financed, the terms of refund are those of the finance company (and any costs associated).

Cancellations after shipping:

All Black Hawk boards are checked thoroughly for any defects in quality at the factory upon completion and then again by a QC prior to dispatch. This ensures we are only shipping Black Hawk products that are exactly as seen by the consumer on our websites and that the quality is of the highest standard. If there is damage in shipping or a manufacturing defect that is clear upon unboxing of your Black Hawk, please contact our staff immediately with multimedia of the issue. Black Hawk will inspect the multimedia to determine minor or major issues. Minor defects may be offered a partial refund or a replacement component. Major defects may warrant a full refund or replacement product.

For change of mind cancellations, we adhere to the UK consumer protection laws which allows for a change of mind cancellation within 14 days of delivery. Due to how unique this style of product is there are a few caveats in the legislation that are involved to fairly protect Black Hawk Electric as a trader whilst still allowing us to offer the consumer this policy. We are upfront and open about this which is to be fair to customers and to manage expectations should a customer wish to cancel.
