QUALITY POLICY

PORTABELLO is committed building luxury furniture that is inspired by creativity , uses traditional craft techniques and takes a responsible approach to the environment.

We actively integrate quality and environmental sustainability into our business model as a reflection of our values of; excellence, innovation, passion and integrity. We carry these values throughout the complete the life-cycle of our products; from initial design until end of life. From the sourcing of materials, suppliers, production, warehouse, shipping, retail, use and end of life we are committed to upholding these values.

Quality and sustainability are part of our long term business strategy: Ensuring the long-term success of our business is only possible if we deliver a quality product and a quality service. All our materials are a product of the environment around us; we therefore realise that the quality of our product is intrinsically linked to the quality of the environment, and thus our long term success depends on working in a sustainable way that minimised any environmental impact.

To achieve this goal, we ensure that we meet the following commitments:

1. Compliance with applicable legal requirements and others to which PORTABELLO subscribes.
2. Continuous improvement of environmental impact throughout the production of our products.
3. Prevention of pollution, protection of environmental diversity, waste reduction and minimisation of consumption of resources.
4. Reduction of CO₂ emissions relating to energy consumption.
5. Engagement in training for employees , suppliers and subcontractors around our sustainability commitments.
6. Development of operations under an ethical and responsible perspective.

These commitments are the framework within which we establish and review our objectives and targets.
