1. Staple Kit Distribution

The lockdown has left tens of millions of migrant workers unemployed. They're vulnerable to starvation and infection. We are identifying and reaching out to these vulnerable sections of our society. We have distributed staple kits (5kg rice, 2kg wheat, 2kg dal, salt packet, and one ltr oil) to 800+ migrant families and families dependent on daily wages settled in urban slums of Bengaluru, and Lucknow.

2. Milk Packet Distribution

Along with Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP, the administrative body responsible for civic amenities and some infrastructural assets of the Greater Bangalore metropolitan area), Sewa is distributing milk packets to 350+ families on a daily basis. This is funded by the Karnataka Government, we volunteered to help BBMP to run this milk distribution drive in ward 142, sunkenhalli. We also distributed milk and bananas in Lucknow, Uttar Pradesh.

Our Reach

2000+ daily wage workers

'Anna Danam is Maha Danam'. Sewa Distributed Fresh food packets to more than 2000+ street, roadside vendors who have been hit hard by the lockdown in Gandhi bazaar and Chamrajpet market in Bengaluru and Lucknow. The lockdown has shut down the largest segment of the self-employed, men and women. With their meager savings running out fast, these people are running low on ration and struggling to buy essential food items.
4. Sanitary Kit Distribution

Our Reach

100+ frontline women warriors

It is our duty to honour the Covid-19 frontline warriors including sanitation workers, home guards, police and other women workers for their service.

Sewa thanked the BBMP women workers of the Bengaluru south zone for their selfless work and distributed sanitary kits to them which included sanitiser, soap, mask, and sanitary cloth napkins.
Since 2015, we have been working in urban slum areas and rural areas of India. We have an established team of employees and volunteers corresponding with the local communities. Our team has always focused on responding and addressing the issues affecting the vulnerable sections of our society.

The current global pandemic has affected millions of people across the globe. Indian daily wage workers, migrant workers, street vendors, and other low economic background community people are hard hit by this global pandemic. From day one of the lockdown, our team is helping the government entities in the execution of different drives supporting these communities. We are distributing staple kits, milk packets, food packets, and sanitary kits in urban slums of Bengaluru, Karnataka, and Lucknow, Uttar Pradesh.

We need your generous donations and support in running these essential services. We appreciate your continued support. Let's all work together to keep our communities safe.

- Jayanthi Ramanan (Sewa International, Executive Director)
