MELT AWAY

You've got goo on you.

Designs are running, dribbling, melting amok.

Think of it as Rorschach gone heavy metal.

But all over yourself.

Clockwise from top left: Skencil regular/retail, Double Happiness "Danke" acoustics earrings, Fantasy Jewelry Box "Madler's beloved earrings" earrings, Chrissie Brighton recycled 14k gold interlock bangles, Jo Designs "Bliss" bangle, Alice MacIyle 18k gold carved necklaces, Ani Chewser pink fox ring, Primrose Design "Memento" pendant, Double Happiness "Gavel" necklace, Primrose Design "Glasses" earring, Suzanne Del "Sedona" necklace, Top right: Primrose Design "Savanna" pearl earring

D-D: Katherine Kwei has it made. As a luxury handbag designer, she already has the best bags, she says, "so I get to spend my funds buying up shoes."

Besides that enviable task, Kwei fills her days at design meetings and juggling phone calls to European tanneries and boutiques. Based in New York, Kwei also makes a point of visiting the wealth of art exhibitions around town. ("Right now Jeff Koons is curating at The New Museum. Amazing," she says.)

Born in Hong Kong, the 37-year-old worked in PR at Louis Vuitton Asia Pacific before leaving to pursue a master's in accessories design at London College of Fashion. She launched her apocryphous handbag line in 2008, and her most recent collection was inspired by Bal, where she got married in 2008.

Current obsessions: "I love colors, tops with cut-outs at the shoulder, big flirty mini skirts."
Style staple: "I am a slave to my leggings. I just can't get enough of them in different prints, colours, necks, studded with gemsets."
Fashion secret: "I love to mix textures — smooth with furry, matte with shiny."
Summer bag: "A great pair of sandals."
