

FAQ for Mock Trial Notebook

What is the new resource? Mock Trial Notebook by Classical Conversations MultiMedia

Who will use this resource? The resource is used by Challenge B families and directors.

Do families need to purchase the new resource? Yes.

Do families need any additional supplies to be able to use the resource? No; this resource is all-sufficient.

Can siblings share the resource? Yes.

Is the resource consumable? No.

How does the new resource compare with the old resource? The new resource features a new trial case.

Can the previous edition continue to be used? No; the previous edition is incompatible.

When will it be used? The resource is used in the second semester.

Why the revision? The previous trial case has been replaced with an exciting new criminal case.

What is the new case about? The new case debates the question of whether negligence and accidents constitute murder — Accidental death leads to a charge of murder when a construction crane collapses and kills two people.

Are there changes to the case materials? Yes; all of the case materials are new.

How will this help families? The new Mock Trial content has been carefully curated to address concerns with previous cases, but still presents an intriguing human dilemma with enough nuances for a satisfactory Mock Trial experience. In addition, the new streamlined and simplified format in the resource makes preparing and facilitating the Mock Trial easier.

Will there be any changes to the way this resource is used at home or in community? No, there are no changes to the way this resource is used. Students will have weekly reading assignments from the resource and will use the content to prepare for their Mock Trial event.

