

“When I was a kid we lived in a really old farmhouse. no doubt, one with a lot of history... My sister and I were at home alone watching TV in winter with the door (a textured glass panel door) closed. We both looked at each other at the same time as we had seen a shadow glide past the door! We were terrified as we both knew there was no way it was a person the way it moved. - Katrina”

“Another time, at the same house, my sister accused me of stealing her hairbrush - which I certainly didn't want! An hour or so later she came to my room with her brush asking me about it, as she had opened her door to find it sitting on the floor in front of her! Again, no one else was home at the time... I think we had a mischievous spirit in that house eek! - Katrina”

“When I was younger I had a lady come up to me and tell me "she didn't mean to alarm me, but she was a psychic and could sense that I had a touch of spirits." I laughed it off, and still haven't had a ghost encounter, or won lotto (Damn!). BUT, I have had dreams that have been true. i.e. one morning I dreamt one of our holidays were cancelled because the people who we were staying with, their father had died. AND THAT VERY MORNING, we got the phone call that his Dad had died in his sleep! - Rachel”

“Recently, when making up a review graphic for the Nail Snail® newsletter, the customer whose review I picked, who had ordered and left their feedback in 2019, then placed an order THAT SAME DAY as I was re-typing their review!

My lovely Mum still swears to this day, when she was pregnant with me she had frequent visits from a young girl, which stopped after I was born. -Rachel”
