Top Celebrity Men's Underwear Models

"Wear fabulous underwear, even if you are the only person that's going to see it"

"Life's too short to wear mediocre underwear"

LAS VEGAS

What happens in Vegas, Stays in Vegas!! Vegas is a place where you'll always have a lot to do with so little time. Everywhere you turn, there's going to be something bright and shiny that grabs your attention.

What to do?

There are many tourist attractions from getting yourself clicked at the Welcome To Fabulous Las Vegas, Nevada sign which is an iconic symbol of the sin city to dance like a stripper for the girl you fantasize. There are a plethora of options that are equally sinful and adventurous when you spend your time in the city. Conquer your fear of jumping off the Stratosphere, which is the tallest building with a height of 350.02 meters and enjoy the exotic view of the sunset with a Gondola ride.

What to eat?

Believe me that all the fun in Las Vegas happens on the tables- whether it is the poker table, blackjack table or the dining table. Do not forget to experience Joël Robuchon Restaurant that serves exemplary French cuisine as well as the numerous options of steak served at the Bazaar Meat by José Andrés.

What to wear?

In a place so colorful and happening, you are surely expected to look glamorous and vivacious. Keep it comfortable and sexy inside out where you can dance to the beats and still feel easy inside. A perfect pair of Daniel Alexander Explosion Bikini for the comfortable time, but be prepared if the idea is to get laid; you surely must have something exotic down there like Good Devil thongs.

BUDAPEST

Whether you are traveling to Budapest for the first time or have been coming around for a while; there's more than one way to explore the glorious Budapest. Often referred to as the Pearl of the Danube, or The Heart of Europe; these rich name tags sit at the core of Budapest. The place is rich in history as well as heritage with a vivacious nightlife for the youth. There's a lot to explore when you are visiting this place this summer.

What to do?

Brush up your history with Terror Haz, a former political prison turned into a museum that talks about the Nazis and communist regimes or spend time at the park near Heroes' Square (Hosok tere) that features iconic statues. The young guys can even indulge in the sinful bath parties organized from April till the end of October. It is must-do when in Budapest.

What to eat?

Gulyás, also called as goulash is the national dish of Hungary made from a meat stew with noodles and vegetables, seasoned with paprika and other sorts of delish spices for hearty flavors is a must have delicacy in Budapest. Halászlé, Újházy chicken broth and Rakott Krumpli are the typical Hungarian dishes available frequently on the restaurant menus.

What to wear?

Hungarians are very casual when it comes to dressing and they believe in everything that feels comfortable. Budapest can be hot and humid in the peak summertime and you can pack some linen shirt (summer colors) with chinos and men's underwear made with cotton. Like a pair of Otzi briefs of bikinis (whatever suits your taste) would just make you feel prepared for the parties as well.

GOA, INDIA

Situated in the South Western region of India, Goa is the perfect travel destination for everyone. Whether going all by yourself or with your partner, Goa has numerous options to explore. The most happening place in India, you'll find a blend of traditional and modern aspects of life in the perfect balance. On one hand, you have plush beaches and on the other hand, you have the most natural landscapes that make you wonder if the time ever touched this place.

What to do?

Well, you must have heard a lot about Goa beach parties and the nightlife which is a must to be explored. Filled with 78 miles of beaches, every beach has its own charm and attractions. A huge hippie enclave until the late 1980s, it has kept the chill vibe that makes it a truly amazing vacation spot. Parasailing, indulging in water sports, visiting historical churches, are a few things out of the many that you can do on your trip.

What to eat?

Rich in Portuguese and South Indian heritage, Goan Food is delectable combination of coconut, chillies, vinegar, rice and spice, and is one of the world's original fusion foods. Delicacies that should not be missed are Goan curries such as Xacuti (a spicy chicken or meat dish incorporating coconut milk), Vindaloos and Cafrials with desserts like Bebinca and many more. I would recommend you to eat local sea foods and stay in touch with the originality of the taste.

What to wear?

Carry as fewer numbers of clothes as possible! Nope! I am not asking you to repeat the already worn clothes, but carry lightweight clothes with sleeveless t-shirts, shorts, board shorts and no underwear for the beaches; men's swimwear is what you need. With all the beaches and ready-to-dive experiences; you'll hardly need underwear (except for the time when you are sightseeing and shopping). Carry as fewer numbers of clothes as possible! Nope! SOUTH AFRICA

The country of approximately 52 million people is already well known for Cape Town, Table Mountain, the wine route and game viewing in the Kruger National Park. Therefore, do we need a better reason to explore the exotic locations in South Africa this summer? Yes! There's a lot more to discover. So if you've got a sporting spirit and love for animals, this is your kind of place to visit.

What to do?

The very first thing to do in South Africa is to get in touch with the natural wildlife with South African safari in the protected wilderness area in the KwaZulu-Natal province. Bungee jumping and rope swings are other fun sports where you can only test yourself if you dare. Swimming with sharks or kayaking with crocodiles and hippos is yet again some adventure sports you can indulge in. Hot air balloon rides, mountain climbing and surfing are some of the main eye candies to look out for.

What to eat?

Feast upon some traditional fine cuisine from South Africa such as Chakalaka and Pap (a vegetable dish made of onions, tomatoes, peppers, carrots, beans and spices with porridge), Bobotie (minced meat with spices, usually curry powder, herbs and dried fruit, then topped with a mixture of egg and milk and baked until set), Boerewors (South African sausage made from pork meat or coarsely minced beef and added spices)

What to wear?

South Africans are quite laid back when it comes to clothing any time of the year, but you'd suppose to dress at your finest when attending a function/event. So, you just have to be prepared with the basic essentials for the safari and outing, but remember to keep your swimwear for the water sports. You can try out Clever Toucan Beach Swimsuit or Intymen Desert print Swim Bikini.

SWITZERLAND

Jess Moss, a popular author and traveler once said about Switzerland, “the birthplace of skiing offers travelers much more than slopes and chalets. From art to food to outdoor adventures, there's so much to enjoy when you visit this small country. ” There are adventure sports, sightseeing and a lot more to do for you men out there in the beautiful Switzerland.

What to do?

With planned and well-made trails, hiking is the first the thing you absolutely should do. This would get you close to the picturesque beauty of the small country. You can even take a tour of the awe-aspiring lakes and architecture at Jet d'Eau, Chateau de Chillon on Lake Geneva and the Rutli Meadow. If you plan a little later in August, you can even witness or be a part of Zurich's biggest party of the year, Zurich Street Parade.

What to eat?

If you are a die-hard fan of chocolates and cheese, this is where you should certainly go. Cheese Fondue, Bircher muesli (oat flakes, lemon juice, condensed milk, grated apples, hazelnuts or almonds), Raclette, Älplermagronen and many more dishes and desserts are served with pleasure at famous restaurants like Romandie, Basel, Zurich & Zug and more.

What to wear?

Switzerland is a cooler place and you must be well dressed in order to prevent any problems like cold and cough. Hence, carry a lightweight jacket or a bomber to keep yourself warm. Talking about clothing also includes men's underwear. You can carry Agacio boxer briefs or Xtremen long boxers to keep you warm and for a defining fit.

ARGENTINA

With astounding scenic beauty, abundance of exotic wildlife and colonial towns and cities, Argentina is one of the top travelled countries for the summer months. The country is an independent republic that features avant garde landscapes, alluring mountains, impressive glaciers and dense jungles to be explored. Still giving it a thought? You'd be compelled by the things you can do in Argentina.

What to do?

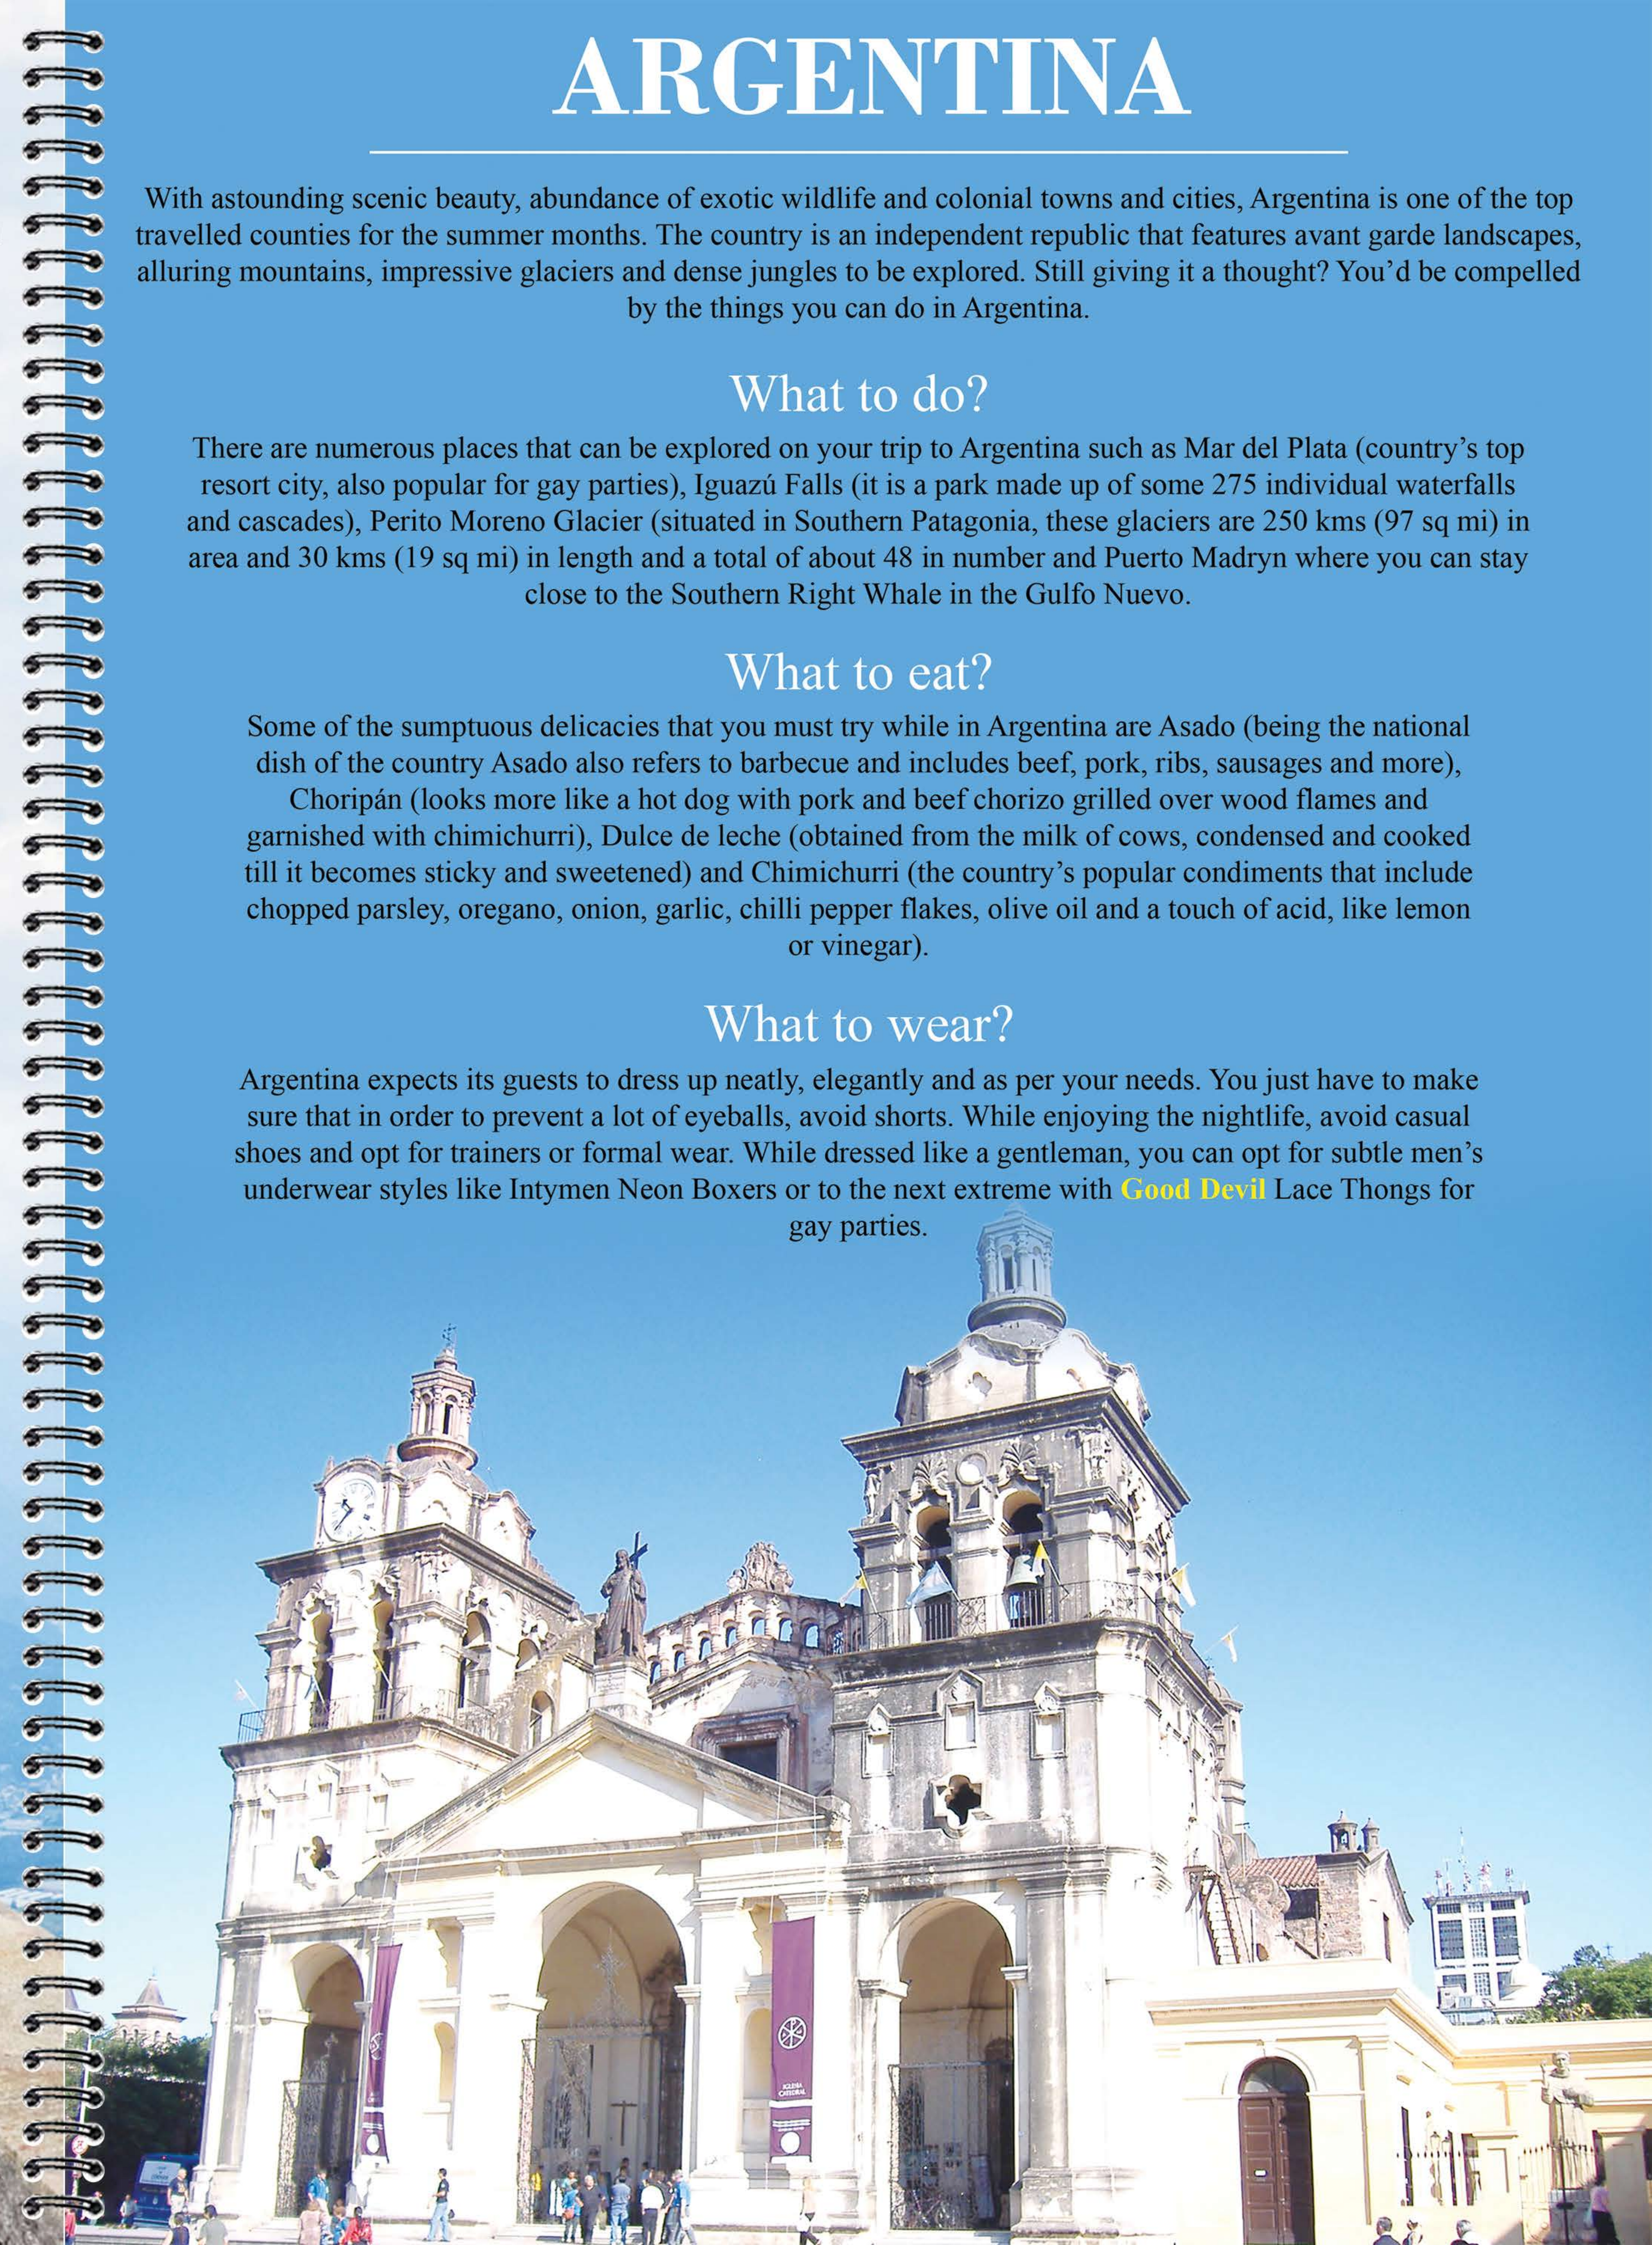

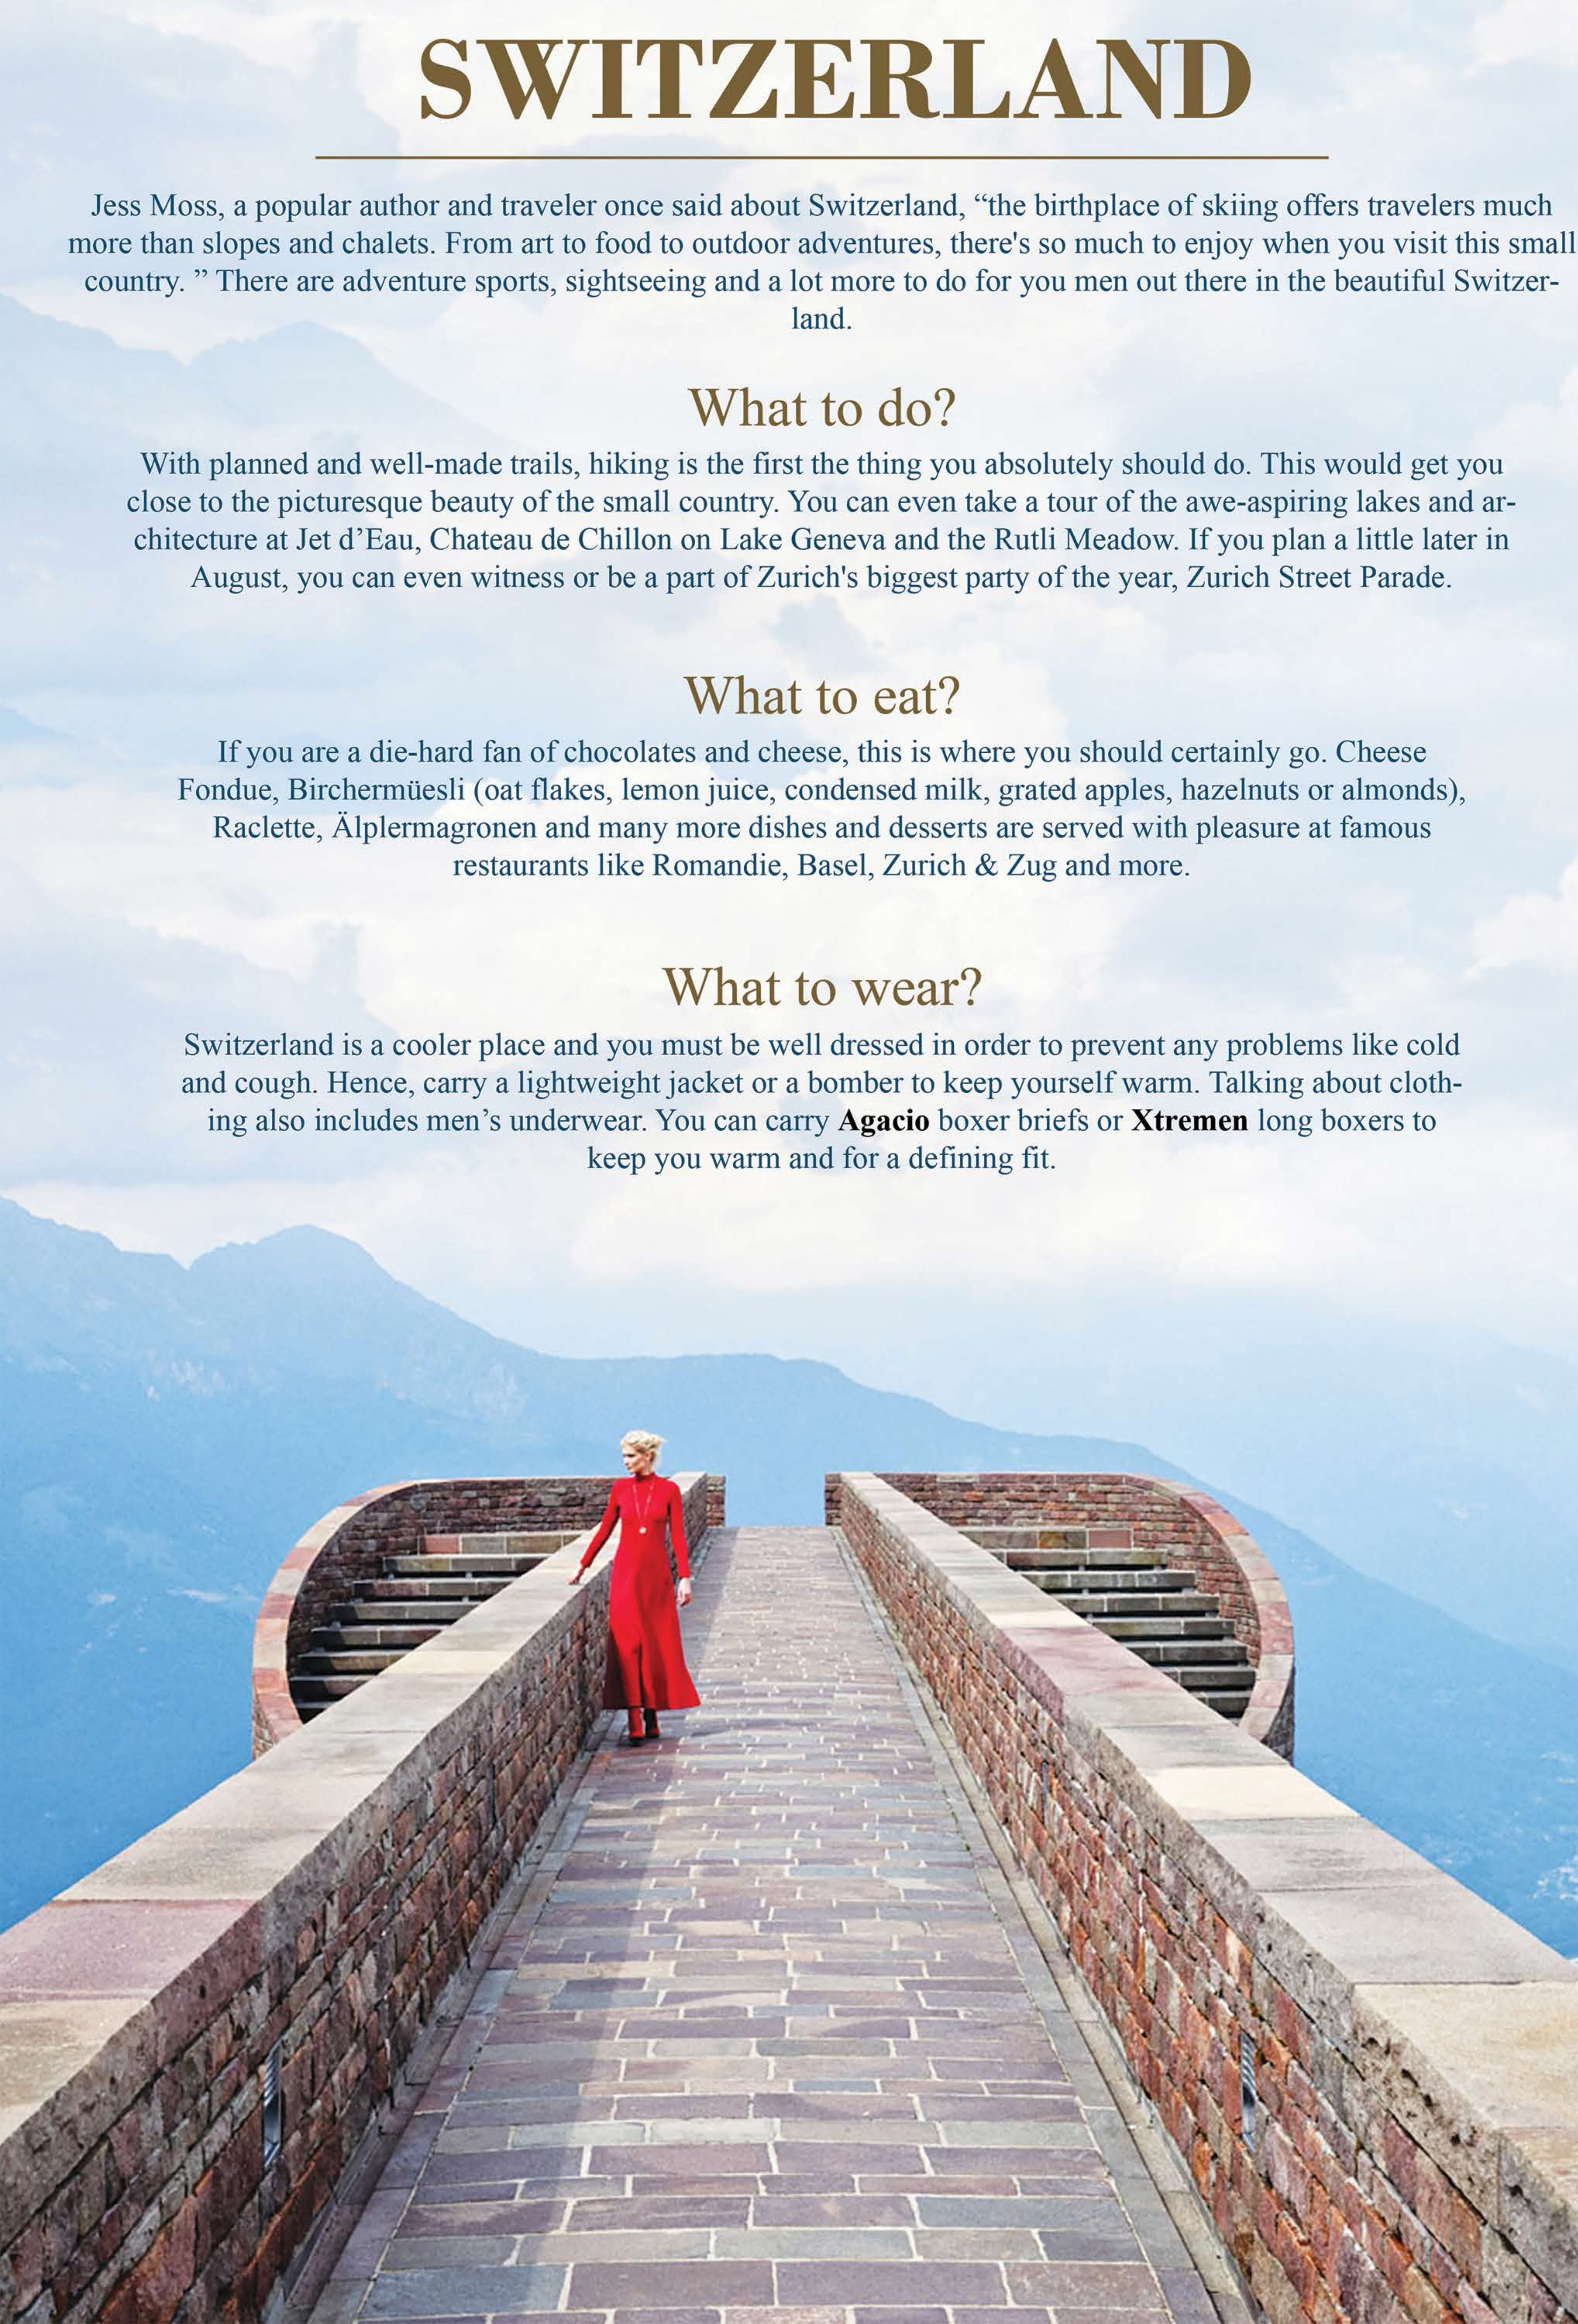

There are numerous places that can be explored on your trip to Argentina such as Mar del Plata (country's top resort city, also popular for gay parties), Iguazú Falls (it is a park made up of some 275 individual waterfalls and cascades), Perito Moreno Glacier (situated in Southern Patagonia, these glaciers are 250 kms (97 sq mi) in area and 30 kms (19 sq mi) in length and a total of about 48 in number and Puerto Madryn where you can stay close to the Southern Right Whale in the Golfo Nuevo.

What to eat?

Some of the sumptuous delicacies that you must try while in Argentina are Asado (being the national dish of the country Asado also refers to barbecue and includes beef, pork, ribs, sausages and more), Choripán (looks more like a hot dog with pork and beef chorizo grilled over wood flames and garnished with chimichurri), Dulce de leche (obtained from the milk of cows, condensed and cooked till it becomes sticky and sweetened) and Chimichurri (the country's popular condiments that include chopped parsley, oregano, onion, garlic, chilli pepper flakes, olive oil and a touch of acid, like lemon or vinegar).

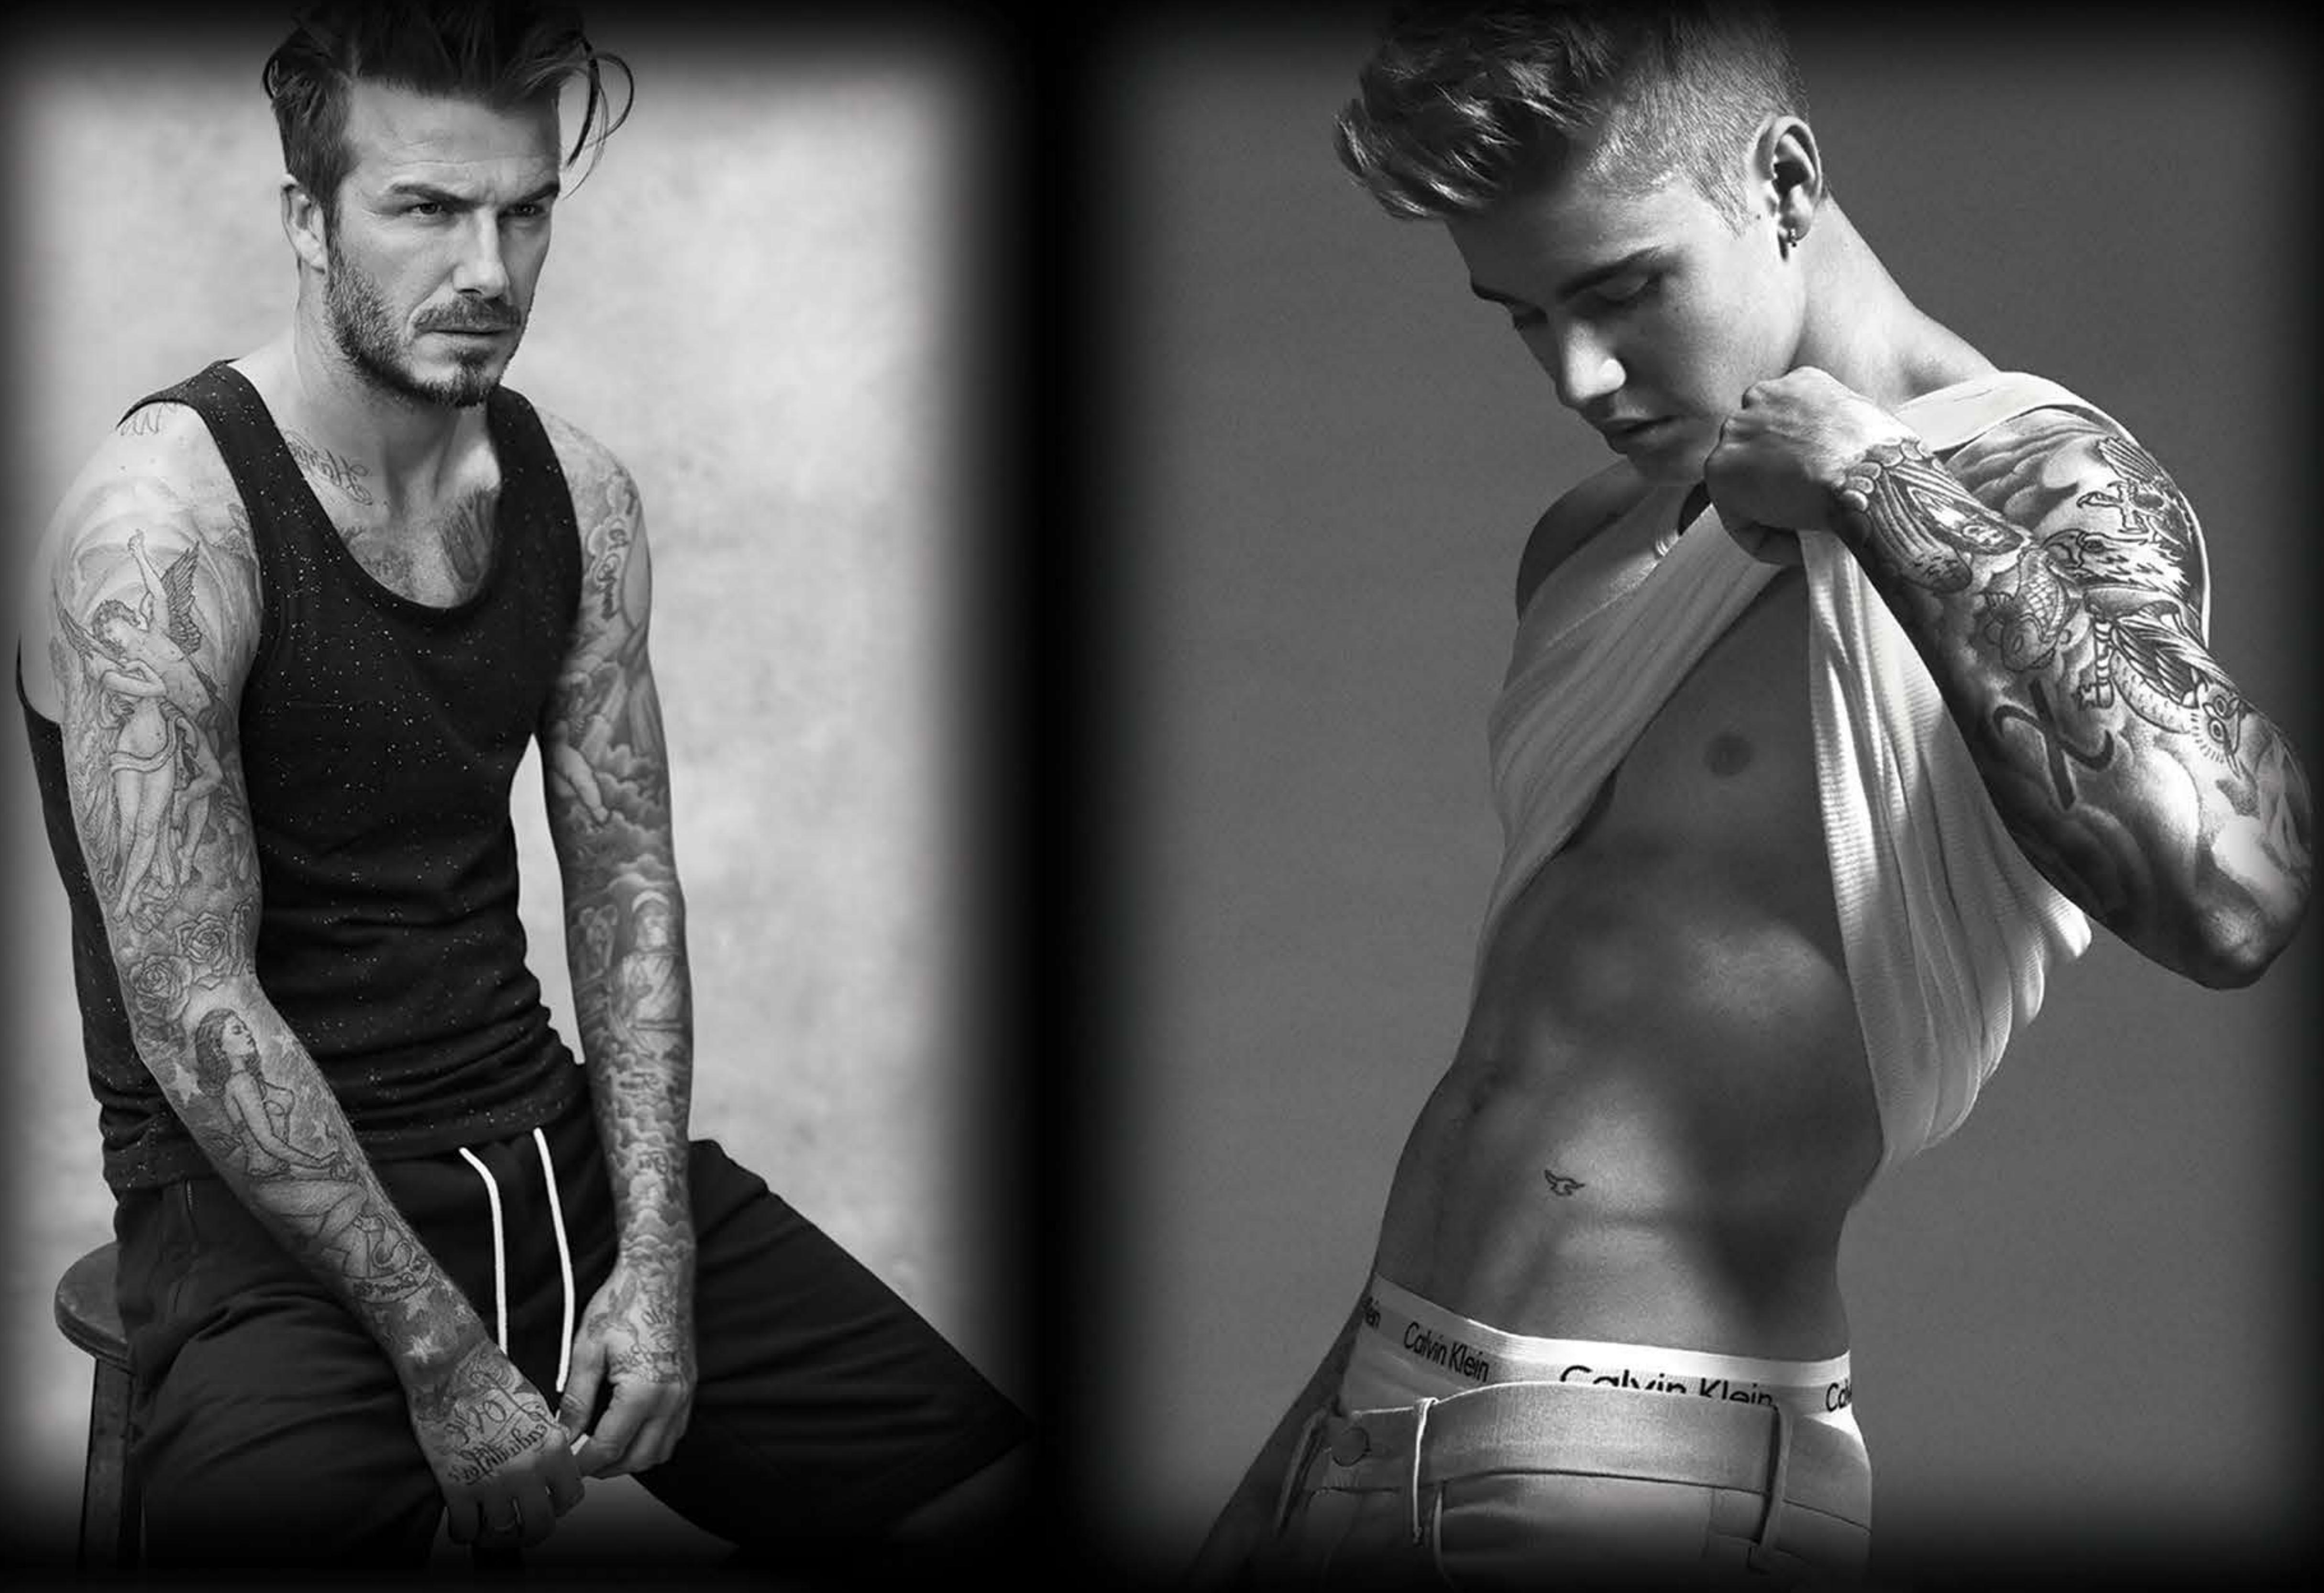

What to wear?

Argentina expects its guests to dress up neatly, elegantly and as per your needs. You just have to make sure that in order to prevent a lot of eyeballs, avoid shorts. While enjoying the nightlife, avoid casual shoes and opt for trainers or formal wear. While dressed like a gentleman, you can opt for subtle men's underwear styles like Intymen Neon Boxers or to the next extreme with Good Devil Lace Thongs for gay parties.

TOP CELEBRITY MEN'S UNDERWEAR MODELS

Men's underwear models come from all walks of life, whether it is modeling, sports or even actors. Some even get the kick start from posing in front of the camera as an underwear model and make their way to stardom. What do you think? Well, I have just compiled a list of celebrities who made it big and posed for their intimate wear as well.

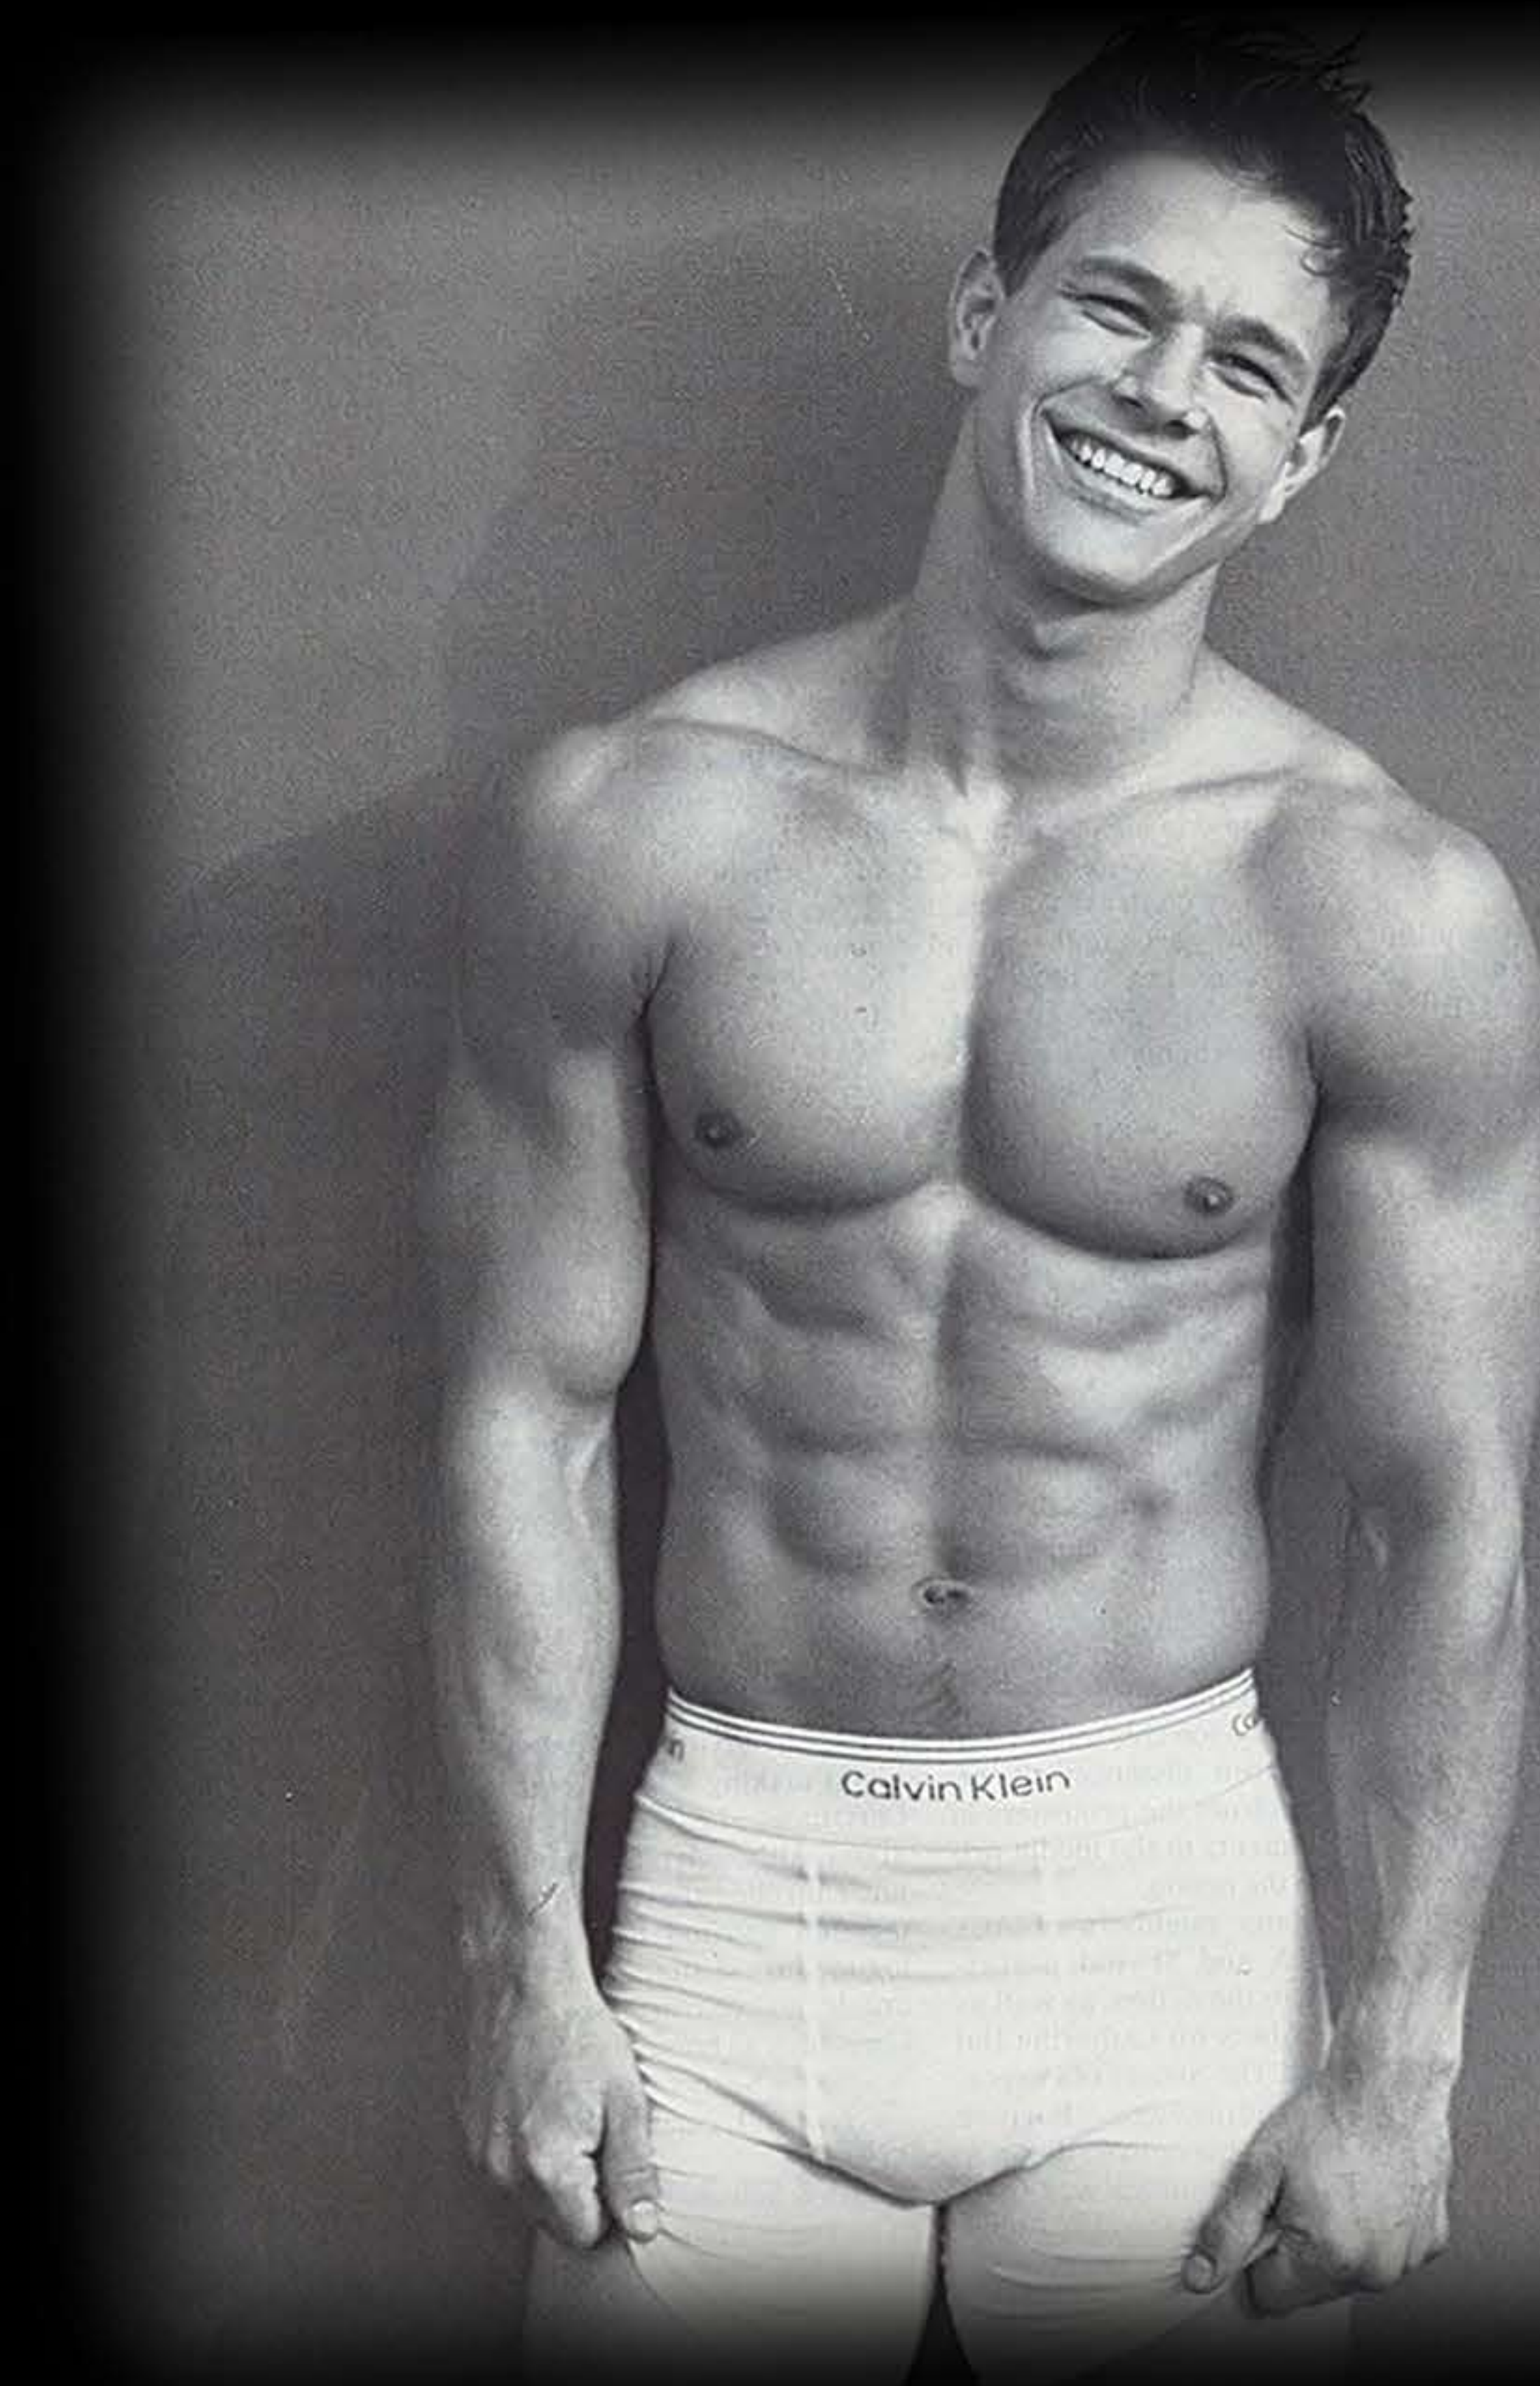

MARK WAHLBERG

You may know Mark Wahlberg for the action-packed movies like The Transformers: Age Of The Extinction, but did you know that the actor was featured in the 1992 men's underwear campaign by Calvin Klein?

Known as Marky Mark back then, girls went head over heels for the killer smile and the way he pulled off the advertisement (with his underwear). You must have seen Nick Jones flaunt the same "the dropped-pants" look in the year 2014, but the icon is always an icon.

DAVID BECKHAM

Even if you are someone who has no clue about the men's underwear styles, you'd know that the soccer icon, David Beckham owns a line of Bodywear. Posing first for Armani, he is currently working in partnership with the high end fashion brand H&M. Beckham's line of intimate apparel is named David Beckham Bodywear. Back then when he posed for the shutterbugs for H&M, brands like Tommy Hilfiger tagged him as the best underwear model of the century (though he's never posed for the respective brand). The soccer star continues to strip off his clothes to pose for the cameras and serve the modern world with some classy men's underwear.

CRISTIANO RONALDO

Walking in the footsteps of David Beckham another soccer star, Cristiano Ronaldo added a feather to his cap by posing as an underwear model. The Portuguese captain and Real Madrid star was showcased by Emporio Armani in the year 2009. Cristiano replaced David Beckham as the face of the Italian brand. Giorgio Armani said, "for me, he is the essence of youth - spontaneous, exciting, a real maverick. It is for his energy that I have chosen Cristiano to become the new face of Armani Jeans and Emporio Armani Underwear - for his youthful, exciting and yes, sexy, attitude." Ronaldo introduced his fashion line with the name CR7 in 2006 that includes men's underwear and clothing articles.

JAMIE DORNAN

If you thought that the 50 Shades Of Grey fame Christian Grey aka Jamie Dornan was never too bold to strip off in front of the camera, take a look at this. The star shed his clothes in the year 2009 for Calvin Klein as an individual model as well as with Eva Mendes, and eventually had a great timing that he was casted as Christian Grey in the film adaptation of E.L. James' erotic book, Fifty Shades of Grey. The star became a sex signal when he showed off his chiseled physique for the brand. Great chemistry with Mendes, the photos were sultry, sexy and truly seductive.

JUSTIN BIEBER

Whether you love him or hate him, the iconic pop singer Justin Bieber added a feather to his cap by signing up with Calvin Klein in the year 2015. In 2014, he shed his clothes at the Fashion Rocks show to be seen in his boxer briefs and that turned out to be his lucky day that followed him to be the face of the luxury brand. The child star rose to fame and turned out to be the golden boy with a bad ass attitude, but you cannot deny the fact that what he showed off in those boxer briefs was plainly sexxy!! What do you think?
