A large copper distillation still is the central focus of the image, set within a distillery environment. The still has a conical top and a cylindrical body. A label on the side of the still reads "FRILLI Wash Still V-10". The background shows other distillery equipment, including pipes and a smaller still. The word "EXPERIENCES" is overlaid on the image in white text, appearing four times in a vertical stack. The middle instance is in a bold, solid font, while the top and bottom instances are in a hollow, outlined font. The second instance from the top is also in a hollow, outlined font.
