CHECKING FOR CONDITION

PILLING

Small balls of fabric that form on clothing after wear or washing. Look under arms, in-between thigh areas and on sleeves.

PULLS/TEARS

Look on all seams, belt loops of jeans, in-between thigh areas of pants, sleeves, especially on delicate fabrics.

MOTH HOLES

Moth holes are mostly seen in cashmere and wool. Make sure to look very closely on sleeves and on front of garments as they may be very small. It is helpful to run your hand through the garment as they may be hard to spot otherwise.

ODORS TO CHECK FOR

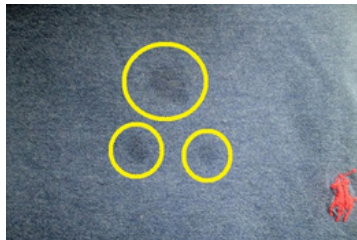

Body Odors: It happens to the best of us!

Dust/Mildew

Cigarette Smoke

DISCOLORATION

Look closely on white/light colored fabrics. If in a dim lit area, hold items up to a natural light. Makeup and selling stains will often be found inside of garment and around neck. Underarm stains will appear light yellow on both inside and outside of garment. Oil stains will appear as dark spots on garments often as a result of food or perfume.

WEAR & TEAR ON SHOES

Toe Marks

Unintentionally pre-loved

Scuffed leather

CHECKING FOR CONDITION

SCRATCHING

Look closely at the lenses and frame of your sunglasses to see if there is any scratching that has occurred. To help better look at the lenses hold them up to natural lighting and look through.

LOOSE OR BREAKING PARTS

It's not uncommon to have loosening screws or legs on the frames of your sunglasses. Please be sure to check the frames and screws on all sunglasses closely.

UNEVEN ALIGNMENT

Sometimes our lenses can get squished in our bags or end up placed somewhere that can damage them. This damage doesn't always result in a scratch or broken part but rather can cause an uneven alignment of the frames of the sunglasses legs. An un-even fit can make frames uncomfortable or can even sit crooked on the the owners face.
