AD100 DEBUT

MADISON COX ASSOCIATES

Landscape Design
NEW YORK

"Each place I'm working on has to have a relationship to its context," publicity-shy Madison Cox once told AD. "I'm always striving to create harmony and order as well as a sense of retreat, a private world for the person I'm designing for." And what a heady crew that is, from style queen Marella Agnelli to philanthropist Anne Bass to Moda Operandi cofounder Lauren Santo Domingo. Cox's favorite gardens are just as eclectic, including Marrakech's Fondation Jardin Majorelle (Cox, the garden's longtime vice president, is its new director); Scotland's Little Sparta; Ganna Walska Lotusland in Montecito, California; and the Mediterranean Garden Society's Garden near Athens. Cox has only one professional hero, though: that would be the late, great Russell Page, the British garden grandee who counted Agnelli among his own devoted clients.
