

ORGANS

The Mysterious Case of
The Brain in a Bucket

MEATS

Middle Eastern Miracle:
The Best Lamb in Dallas Is
At the Cowboys' Frisco HQ

POLITICS

Mayor Mike Rawlings
Has One Big Thing He Wants
To Do Before He Leaves

RECORDS

Leon Bridges Has a New Look and a New Sound

Getaways

WEEKEND

10 GREAT ESCAPES
A SHORT DRIVE FROM DALLAS

COLLECTIVE RETREATS
HILL COUNTRY
near Wimberley

Shoot Clays
ROUGH CREEK

Catch a Concert
DOWNTOWN AUSTIN

Shop for Shiplap
MAGNOLIA MARKET

Enjoy a Massage
LIVING WATERS

Go Horseback Riding
CIBOLO CREEK RANCH

Gaze at the Stars
RANCHO PILLOW

And MUCH MORE!

VISIT US ONLINE AT WWW.DMAGAZINE.COM

SWAG THE DOG

Jeanne Milligan
OWNER OF THE KIKI STYLE

After Yorkie-mix Kiki slipped out of her collar during a walk, Jeanne Milligan realized the perils of controlling a small dog with a traditional collar—trachea damage or even death. She began searching for a harness that was both safe and stylish, and when she couldn't find what she was looking for, the retired ad sales exec created her own line, calling it The Kiki Style.

Milligan's American Kennel Club-sanctioned harnesses are handmade locally and engineered with three secure mechanisms—a Velcro closure, a snap-in-place buckle, and double ring lead attachments—to ensure there are "no Houdini exits."

The designer's first collection of fashion harnesses, in embellished denim, faux fur, luxe silk brocades, and flannel plaids, debuted during the 2017 holiday season. "I'm a huge traveler," says Milligan. "My designs are inspired by the places I go." She found inspiration for her summer collection while traveling in Morocco. For fall, expect styles loaded with Parisian je ne sais quoi.

Milligan looked to Dallas-based David Sutherland for summer fabrics, and a collaboration of retail custom dog beds is in the works. "There just isn't much out there if you want to match your decor," she says. "Dog beds are always an afterthought." Prepare to be bow-wowed. thekikistyle.com

