

UTAH Style & Design

WHAT'S NEXT

COLORFUL
ROOMS
&
DARING DECORATING

makeover
MAGIC

Display Until March 31, 2018 $4.95 U.S.
Winter 2018 utahstyleanddesign.com

REMARKABLE REMODELS, STUNNING SPACES AND BIG-IMPACT IDEAS

A PASSION FOR PEACOCK

Not quite blue and not quite green, peacock is a saturated in-between color that can deliver a hip, moody vibe to any space.

PEACOCK is not for the timid, and that's why we love it. So do the pros at Sherwin-Williams, who named "Oceanside"—their version of the saturated green-blue—their color of the year for 2018. Here's why: "Green-blues in deep values, such as Oceanside, respond to changes in light, which is a quality that creates intense dimension," says Sue Wadden, the company's director of color marketing. "It is a tremendously versatile color and harmonizes with other diverse color groups." We couldn't agree more. Choosing peacock may seem like a bold move, but it delivers instant richness to any room—think mid-century modern den, luxurious old-world office or over-the-top powder room. Peacock accentuates the radiance of metallics and plays well with other colors, particularly those with similar strength, including saffron yellow and bright red, as demonstrated in this stunning Park City room. The cozy space shows this color at its absolute best.

VARDO
Farrow & Ball
No. 288

AVALON TEAL
Benjamin Moore
CSP- 645

OCEANSIDE
Sherwin-Williams
SW 6496

That's Rich!

Lush velvets, textured wovens and shimmering silks adore this exotic, opulent color.

Studio by Casamance

Bellevue by Casamance

Dragonfly by Perennials

Princesse Aiko by Miso

Melville by Designers Guild

Soleil Levant by Misa

Pistola Velvet by Carlucci di Chivasso

Soft Pantigre by Designers Guild