

To build your flower crown, cut out each piece individually. Tape the left and right sides behind the front piece, underneath the leaves. Then, wrap around your head and tape the two side pieces together at the back of your head where it fits best.

Print on cardstock for the best results—if the paper is strong enough, you can even wear the crown as a headband!

Style your flower crown to the front or to the side—make it your own!