

Alternate attachment of side rails on Super Sport, Deluxe, and 40th anniversary edition interiors

Courtesy of Rick Lee

1 - I obtained some eye straps from West Marine. Below is a photo of the packaging. They are chrome polished and look great.

2 - I put a screw in the inner hole of the existing stand off holes. This created a secure bond to the outer backing plate.

3 - the outer existing stand off hole was used for one of the holes for the new bracket as the screw holes are wider than the existing. This meant I had to drill an extra hole on each side. The good thing is that the hole I filled with the screw is hidden behind the railing.

4 - I installed the rest of the railing as usual and I think it looks great. The side panels for the wooden super sport package hide the rail and you really don't see any of it. Even if they were out front and center, you can see from the photo that it is not a bad look.

