PLANNING

☐ Prepare for a busier Cyber Monday

☐ Test and ensure your website can handle a surge in traffic

  You can test the server load capacity of your store with tools like k6 Cloud, or check and fine tune your store with Shopify’s online store speed report.

☐ Double-down on your top sales channels

  If you’re new to multi-channel selling, then explore some of the following online sales channels:

  ▸ Google
  ▸ Facebook
  ▸ Pinterest
  ▸ Walmart
  ▸ Amazon

☐ Keep an eye on the competition

  Keep tabs on competitors on social media and set up Google Alerts to see which websites are talking about them.

☐ Create contingency plans for:

  Inventory, Shipping, and Customer Support.

PRODUCT

☐ Make inventory decisions early

  Forecast demand using ABC analysis or if you’re a Shopify merchant, using Sales by Product report filtered by last year’s BFCM dates. Explore forecasting tools and other inventory management apps to help you get inventory right this year.

☐ Consider pandemic product trends

☐ Sell gift cards

  ▸ Add gift cards to your store

☐ Organize your upcoming sales

  Some best practices:

  ▸ Set up different discounts on Shopify
  ▸ Create a planned sales map with this template
  ▸ Check out the Shopify app store for sales scheduling apps

☐ Optimize your order and fulfillment workflows

  ▸ Prioritize your orders by: customer priority, shipping requirements, or product type
  ▸ Use Orders Timeline in your admin with specific instructions to your staff
