Make-up

- One of Ireland's most effervescent make-up artists, Leonard Daly is known for both his editorial and teaching work, and more recently his blog, beautybaked.com.
- Kathryn O'Neill trained under the renowned Daniel Sandler and is a regular contributor to magazines and London Fashion Week; she continues to be a top choice for brides-to-be in Cork and Kerry.
- As an anchor on Ireland AM, Sinead Desmond has to be immaculately groomed at all times, even if she is rising at 4am. So if anyone knows her beauty dos and don'ts, it's Sinead.
- An almost permanent fixture on the editorial and fashion circuit, make-up artist to the stars Paula Callan has just launched her second make-up line, Buff, with Hession Hairdressing.
- Having worked as both a make-up artist and teacher, Kate Rose Crean is carving out a name for herself, especially on the busy wedding circuit, where she is in constant demand.

Skincare

- The highly respected Dr Rosemary Coleman MD FRCPI is a consultant dermatologist and international skincare authority in her field; she is a regular voice on the subject in media circles.
- A former nurse, Patricia Molloy, has run the successful Derma Laser group since 1999. She regularly attends and presents at international seminars on medical aesthetics.
- Leading cosmetic dermatologists Drs Jane and Katherine Mulrooney are at the forefront of their field, having spent the last decade specialising in non-surgical cosmetic procedures; they opened the Dr Mulrooney Clinic last year in Dublin 4.
- Glashule beauty guru Nuala Woulfe has been rejuvenating the skin and souls of the South County Dublin set for over 20 years, in her ever-popular salon and Serenity Day Spa.
- Celebrity Salon fans will recognise Elaine Butler Doolin as the host of the TV3 show, and when not on air, she runs the highly-regarded Bespoke Beauty salon in Donnybrook.
