The Landscaper's Buddy Cart

Easy lifting of very heavy loads. No back strain, no site damage. In most cases, the Buddy will allow most trees to be planted with one less worker. If it takes three men to plant one large B&B tree, The Buddy allows it to be safely one with only two...maybe even one. Soil Sampling Equipment

You can learn exactly what your plants need by sampling your soil. Over-fertilizing is a waste of your time and money and can pollute water supplies. Under-fertilizing or improper soil pH starves your plants of essential nutrients they need for maximum production. Sample your soil every year to produce the highest quality crops, turf or ornamental plants.

Tips on selecting a soil probe

We carry three different brands of heavy-duty soil probes. Each manufacturer has slight differences that can make one probe more ideal for your situation. Here are some quick tips to help you select between each brand.

GOOD - JMC

Welded one-piece construction that takes a 3/4"-dia. core sample. Tips are self sharpening to help penetrate the soil time after time. The handles and footsteps on these probes are a little longer than the other brands, giving you better leverage.

BETTER - Oakfield

Normally welded one-piece construction that takes a 3/4°-dia. core sample. The replaceable screw-on tip can be easily changed for your soil type or simply to keep the sharpest tip.

BEST - AMS

Made from aircraft-quality steel and triple-plated with nickel to prevent rusting. The tips are heat treated and wear resistant for long life. AMS probe's handle is detachable for easier transport and storage.

Soil Samplers

JMC soil sampler with step makes obtaining samples in hard-packed soils easy

JMC 36"L Nickle Plated Steel Alloy For large numbers of samples of for hard-packed soil, the long handle and sturdy footstep saves back strain. Core is 3/4" dia. X 12"L.

Mole and Gopher Trap with Wedge-and-Probe Tool

Get rid of gophers and moles once and for all

Use the wedge-and-probe tool to set the trap from above the ground. Yellow catch indicator lets you know when a gopher has sprung the trap. No digging and no need to handle dirt! Trap Only – Expand your kit's coverage area by adding single traps. Does not include probe and wedge tools.

NOTE: Allow time for trap to work. While the trap lets you install without much disturbance to the tunnel, it may take some time for the gopher to return. Do not clean with soap or other cleaner. Gophers are territorial, so when they smell another gopher in their tunnels, they are likely to investigate, hopefully triggering the trap in the process. If clogged, direct a strong spray of water into the opening of the trap to clear obstructions.

How to choose a sweep net

Muslin or sailcloth?

Muslin is lighter in weight and dries out more quickly. Sailcloth net bags are tougher and stand up to everyday duty in brushy or spiny crops like alfalfa and cotton.

12" or 15" nets?

Most sweep net tasks call for a 15"-dia. net opening. It's important to use a standard size so that your results are comparable to those of others, and from one day to the next.

Gempler's 15"-dia. Heavy-Duty Sweep Net

Our best-selling sailcloth sweep net is ideal for cotton and alfalfa

The sailcloth net over an extra-heavy galvanized rim with a thick 35.5"L hardwood handle stands up to almost any vegetation.

Pump Options

Piston Pump: Most popular and are primarily used with liquid formulations. Not recommended for use with abrasive sprays or wettable powders. These substances can score the piston and cylinder of the pump, causing leaks and shortening the lifespan of the sprayer.

Diaphragm Pump: Generate a lower pressure (max. 60 psi) than piston pumps, which results in larger liquid droplets and less spray drift. Can be used with wettable powders or bleach solutions and water containing abrasives, such as sediment found in lakes, rivers or well water.

SO/O[®] Backpack Sprayers - Built for comfort. Built for convenience. Built to last.

Spraying for weeds, insects and disease control doesn't need to be labor-intensive with this lightweight sprayer

Only chemical-resistant parts of the sprayer come in contact with solution ensuring years of operation. Spray tank UV stabilized polyethylene with excellent impact and chemical resistance. Handle adjusts for right or left hand, and trigger lock allows continuous spraying with less fatigue. All models include a 28"L poly wand and 48" nylon reinforced hose. Standard models have padded shoulder straps and come with four nozzles - flat fan, hollow cone, jet stream, and plastic adjustable. Deluxe models have a few upgrades to the standard equipment - wider shoulder straps to increase comfort while wearing, a fold-away pump handle with wand retainer clips for easier storage and transport, and a four nozzle assortment that includes a brass adjustable nozzle instead of plastic.

Inversion Tester Detects thermal inversions that impede herbicide and pesticide application

Most pesticide labels specify that the product should not be sprayed when there is a temperature inversion occurring (warm air above cool air). If pesticides are sprayed during an inversion, fine droplets of the chemical can be concentrated in the cool layer near the ground and isolated from the surrounding weather conditions. This meter will help identify the presence of an inversion. Measures accurate air temperature at boom height to meet new label requirements. 41-1/2"L x 2-3/4" dia. deployed. Vehicle & Tractor Accessories: Tractor Cab Filters

Clean Air Filter is designed to fit just like OEM-style filters. No special brackets or gaskets are required.

Clean Air Filter* Tractor, Combine and Sprayer Cab Filters

Unlike standard cab filters that have only a paper-like medium to trap dusts, our three-stage filter combines dust filter mediums (Stage 1) with activated charcoal (Stage 2), which absorbs pesticide and other organic vapors and traps pollen and molds. A final filter (Stage 3) reduces the amount of charcoal fines entering your cab, so you breathe cleaner air. Each filter is housed in a durable metal case and is designed to fit snugly in your tractor cab. Replace filters annually or when you begin to again taste or smell chemical vapors. How to Order Your Filter: Identify your tractor or sprayer model from our updated and expanded list, cross check against our dimensions and manufacturer's part number and specify GEMPLER'S item #.

Sprayer Filters. Chemical spray filters with activated carbon specifically for the cabs of sprayers. Featuring the same three-stage filtration process as the tractor and combine filters.

Tire Repair Supplies: Hub & Spindle Assemblies

Ready-To-Go Assemblies

Complete stub axle assemblies include all new parts, hubs, spindles, seals, dust caps, bearings, nuts and studs. Just pack the bearings with grease. Fit all standard 4-, 5-, 6- and 8-hole agricultural bolt patterns. Replacement parts for the hubs and spindles are readily available.

We do not recommend that you attempt to match parts on stub axles. With so many manufacturers, many of which have gone out of business, you are better off replacing a broken hub or bearing with a completely new assembly. You will find that our prices on complete assemblies are much lower than what you will pay for a single replacement part from a local dealer.

LOAD RATINGS – Always make sure that the load capacity of your stub axle, wheel and tire match each other. Check the sidewall of tires for maximum load ratings. Remember, the maximum load-carrying capacity of any tire/wheel/hub assembly is limited by the load ratings of the least strong components selected. NOTE: These hub and spindle assemblies are for agricultural use based on 20mph.

Coats & Jackets

Choose the Right carbartt Active Jac

Firm Duck Made from unwashed and untreated cotton duck with double-plied yarn for extra durability. Features a stiff, non-broken-in feel. This hard-wearing, traditional canvas resists snags and tears.

Shell & Lining Guide

Sandstone Duck Micro-sanded for a brushed appearance, then washed with detergent and softeners for a comfortable broken-in feel. Because it is pre-washed, there is less shrinkage than canvas that has not been prewashed.

Thermal

Warm and lightweight, 100% polyester weave with about the same thickness as a flannel shirt. It is Carhartt's thinnest insulation. Garments with a thermal lining are good choices for three-season wear and layering with other garments.

Quilt flannel lining features brushed polyester tricot guilted to a medium-weight polyester insulation. With the feel of a soft flannel shirt, it is thicker than the Sherpa lining. Garments with the quilt flannel lining good option for cold outdoor jobs.

Quilt Nylon Either red or black guilted nylon taffeta with a lightweight polyester fill. Thicker than the blanket lining but not bulky. Garments with a nylon guilt lining are an excellent for outdoor chores in colder temperatures.

Pigskin

Cowhide is the most commonly used leather in work gloves. Cowhide leather is divided into three layers prior to manufacturing. The smooth outer layer (or grain side) is used on "premium" grade styles of leather gloves. It is the strongest, smoothest part of the hide. The bottom layer (or suede side) is used mostly on leather palm styles, which typically have linings to protect the hands against its roughness. The middle layer is usually discarded because it has no tensile strength.

Pigskin leather is tanned for toughness and pliability. Soft drying and flexible, pigskin withstands moisture without stiffening. Pigskin also has excellent abrasion resistance and durability.
