ABOUTTHE FABRIC

We figure that it's better to reuse fibres where we can. Our swimwear is made from ECONYL® regenerated nylon, sourced from nylon waste that would otherwise pollute the Earth. ECONYL® regenerated nylon can be infinitely recycled to its original form, giving it an endless life cycle.

Using these fibres, our styles are fashioned from a high-performance and long-lasting Vita fabric that's resistant to chlorine, suntan lotion and oils, making them the perfect travel partners now and on all your future vacays.

ABOUTTHE FABRIC

Like our swimwear, our activewear collection uses ECONYL® regenerated nylon, sourced from discarded waste, like fishing nets and fabric scraps. Not only is this collection eco-conscious, it's also scientific. Using Vita Power fabric that's designed to enhance your workout, it gives the perfect muscular compression to decrease your body's production of lactic acid and boost faster recovery of energy. Sculpting, breathable and soft on your skin, our styles feel as good as they look.

ABOUT THE FABRIC

Lightweight, breathable and comfortable - our organic cotton collection is a dream in warmer weather. In case you're wondering what the difference is, organic cotton is grown without chemical pesticides or fertilizers that harm the soil.

We work with GOTS, an organic cotton supplier that provides a comprehensive standard across environmental and social criteria in producing organic textiles. GOTS fibres are also produced on organic farms, in line with international organic farming standards, so its whole supply chain is organic, from field to fashion.
