LORE STANDING MIRROR

ABOUT

There's really only one reason to stand in front of a mirror. But after a few hundred first looks in the morning or last glances before running out the door, you might find yourself reflecting on something else, too. Our LORE mirror owes its appealing clean lines to tenon joinery and subtly set-back horizontal rails, which bring just the right amount of depth and dimension to this simple shape. The vertical posts extend downward to become "feet", letting this mirror lean with an airy, effortless feel.
