GOLDEN POTHOS

The Golden Pothos is called the Devil's Ivy because it's difficult to kill and keeps its bright hue even in dark light! This plant is not pet-friendly.

THE ROUTINE:

● LIGHT

I like any type of light, but bright light helps me grow.

● WATER

Every 2-3 weeks or when my leaves have drooped.

● TEMPERATURE

60°-85° F is ideal, but just keep me away from cold drafts.

● PLANT CARE

Yellow leaves can mean overwatering! Oh, please trim any brown leaves.
