Designed for Life

Our first eco velvet fabric collection, Omega III is now woven with recycled polyester in the pile, removing ten large plastic bottles from the environment for every metre woven.

We are striving to produce eco fabrics that feel good and that don't harm the earth

In addition to being recycled, Omega III velvet is also inherently fire retardant. This removes the need for a chemical treatment, which is kinder to the environment and produces a softer, low chemical, more luxurious velvet.

Beautiful as well as eco-friendly, Verde is one of our favourite collections. Woven with 80 per cent recycled cotton – using offcuts from the fashion industry – it is an exciting addition to our growing sustainable fabric offering, saving water and energy.

Linwood is a British brand that places creativity and innovation at the core of everything that it does. With a firm belief that colour and pattern bring joy to a scheme, we draw on classic English style and imbue it with a contemporary spirit, producing exclusive collections of fabrics, wallpapers and cushions that brim with personality and charm.
