

Boo Williams

Founded by Boo Williams, former tight end for the New Orleans Saints, Black Ghost Enterprises is a multi-faceted branding company that includes our line of CBD cannabis products under the BooBeary brand. As a former professional athlete, Boo brings his own personal experience with using cannabis for pain management and mental health, along with his vast industry knowledge, to lead his venture.

Boo is on a mission to dispel misconceptions about cannabis through information, products and services. This celebrated NFL veteran spends every day in action, making his 'Saving Lives and Changing Minds' slogan more than a catchy motto for him and the lives he has touched and changed. This slogan is empowerment, and cannabis is the vehicle for the change that drives him and his company.

We are excited to bring you top quality products made with the highest industry standards. Our BooBeary line of CBD products is formulated to address every day ailments, provide mental health support, and to enhance training for athletes.
