Our story.

1945 | Where it all began

In 1945, June Dyson began her pottery with husband Colin Gordon. Called Dyson Studios, the pottery was set up in the bayside suburb of Black Rock.

It took tenacity and drive to run a pottery that provided for her family, and Colin and June managed this until they both retired in the late 1980's.

1970's | Moulding a dream

1978 saw June and Colin's youngest son, Robert 'Andy' Gordon, break away from the family pottery business and begin his own dream with his English wife Barbara.

Image: The Pack Track in Gembrook. Circa 1970's

They set up a small pottery in a tin shed on their property in Gembrook and called it the 'Pack Track Pottery'.

1980's | Business is growing

By the 1980's, The Pack Tray Pottery was Gembrook's largest local employer, selling wares all over the country. The pottery was moved to a large purpose built headquarters in Pakenham.

1990's | It's a family affair

By the 1990's the pottery had developed into a large production pottery, employing over 35 staff. In the late 1990's and year 2000, Barbara and Andy's children Hannah and Kate joined the pottery. Ten years later, eldest son Bobby came on board.

2024 - Present | A future fired with imagination & rich with history.

Robert Gordon Pottery is now run by siblings and Directors - Hannah, Kate and Bobby Gordon. Passion for the craft has been handed down three generations. A love of pottery has flowed from June Dyson, to Robert Gordon and his children. The family has been immersed in the world of ceramics for over seventy years. This is a story unlike any pottery in Australia. to provide for six children.
