LEMPI ♥

Vintage love

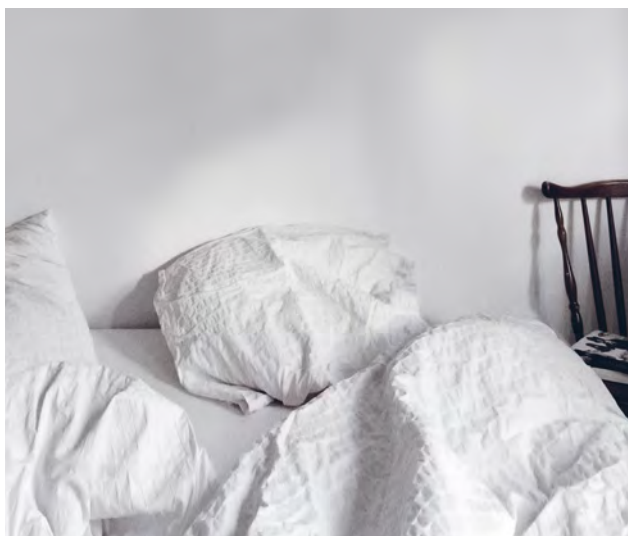

[ˈlem.pi]

Old Finnish for

'love'

In Finland there is an old saying that goes 'love doesn't have to be perfect, but genuine'. The same can be said of a Nordic summer, its hopes and its treasured warmth shared.

Scent notes: Peony and rose, strawberries and mosses.

ROSENHAVE

Floral sanctuary

[ˈroːsənˈhæːvə]

Danish for

'rose garden'

Nordic rose gardens are precious places. Only the hardiest varieties, and most careful owners, can expect their fragile fragrance blushes to survive and prosper after the long, frozen winters.

Scent notes: Alba rose and elderflower, geranium and blackcurrant buds.

REGN

After the rainfall

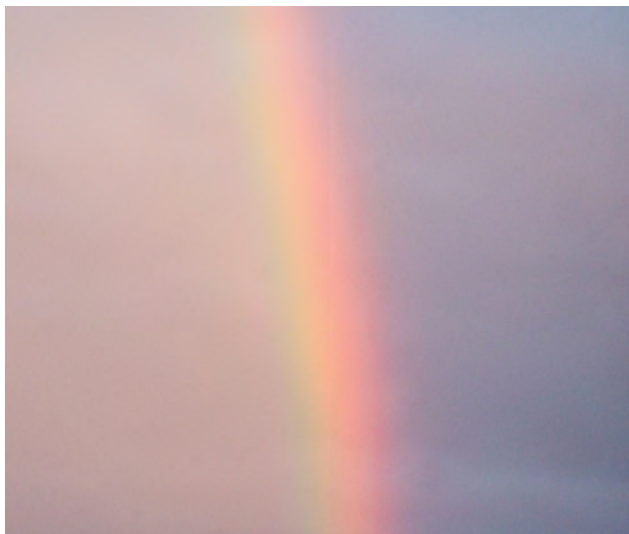

['rɛŋ:n]

Scandinavian for

'rain'

Cool, green, rejuvenating. The sudden cloudburst of a summer shower, the muted grey drizzle of an autumn mist, that precious moment when the drops stop falling and nature breathes again.

Scent notes: Wet grass and misted peony, damp earth and slippery cobblestones.

FJÄLL
Freedom to roam

[fjæl:]
Swedish for
'highland'

In Sweden, allemansrätten gives everyone the right to roam across the entire country on the condition only footprints are left behind. The rough, exposed terrain of the north Swedish fells make for arguably the most spectacular trails.

Scent notes: Heather and thyme, ground berries and leaf sap.

KAPITEL

Eau de Toilette

Three fragrance chapters in the story of Scandinavia reformulated for the skin.

Each chapter, locally known as 'kapitel', echoes the chronology of our journey across Scandinavia by reinterpreting a trio of adventures precious to life in the north.

Kapitel 17, Remote refrain

An orchard-lined path cut deep inland, soundtracked by the watery reverb of the towering falls.
