

Hawaii Hidden Adventure

Aloha! Welcome to Hawaii!
Ready to go on an adventure?
Here are the directions you'll need for this trip!

On Maui, you'll head as if you are going on the Road To Hana (because, technically, you will be on it... You're just not going ALL the way to Hana). Once you get on HWY 360 you'll want to start watching the mile markers. After you pass Mile Marker 6 you'll need to pay close attention. Somewhere around the 6.5MM is a break in the trees on the side of the road. Most likely there will be cars pulled off the side of the highway on both sides. This means you are in the right spot.

Find a place to park (literally pulling into the grass on the side of the highway just as these cars in the photo did) and make sure you are NOT blocking the gate on the property across the road. No need to return from your hike and find that your vehicle has been towed! Yikes! That would make for a bad day on vacation—but hey, it would certainly make for a day you would never forget!
Ha!

Once you are parked and you have grabbed your items you want to take with you (be prepared for everything to potentially get wet AND DO NOT bring any valuables with you because you might have to leave your items unattended for a bit) -you will look for a small opening/break in the trees as your point of entry for the hike. A VERY SMALL break in the trees. If we hadn't seen people go in there, we might have missed it ourselves but simply know that it's there and you'll find it if you walk the tree line and look for the path.

Once you enter the trees, you'll just follow the path! Have a great time! Don't forget to take pictures and record the sounds of the bamboo clacking in the wind!

Last but not least, don't forget to head just a bit further up the road to see the RAINBOW EUCALYPTUS trees!! You can do this when you return from your hike but don't forget! They are absolutely worth seeing and you are about a minute or two away from them!

Let me know what you thought when you get back from vacation! I'd love to hear from you!
