Biography : I am a professional facilitator, independent consultant, wife and mother of two great children. I've studied numerous parenting methodologies over the years and found only one that can be easily applied in the early years with children of varying temperament styles.

I am currently offering community classes and private group courses. If you are interested, I'd love to hear from you!

Biography : I began facilitating Love and Logic classes in 1997. In 1999, I had the honor of being interviewed by Jim Fay and became a certified facilitator before that process was terminated. I have been facilitating classes non-stop since then. Since I am also a psychotherapist and an addictions therapist, I have been able to use those skills in private parent coaching. It is a delight to blend my skills to help parents with classes, private parent coaching and a combination to address their parenting as well as their mental health and addiction challenges.

Biography : Tammy has served in the human services profession for 20 years and attributes much of her success to skills she learned in a Love and LogicB. training over 20 years ago. By implementing Love and LogicB. techniques, Tammy has witnessed positive behavioral outcomes in children, adolescents, and adults with challenging behaviors in her various professional contexts. She has served in public education, residential treatment centers for youth, and home and community based services for adults with mental illness and adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities. Tammy has also managed several programs and human service teams and has held leadership roles as a Quality Assurance Professional, Program Director, and a Human Services Civil Investigator. Tammy is passionate for adult education, the professional development of human service workers, and excels in effective communication and class instruction. Tammy holds a Bachelorb3 degree in Ministry and has completed post-graduate studies in Theology. As a bi-vocational professional, Tammy has also served in Church Ministries to include Childrenb3 Ministries, Compassionate Ministries, Womenb3 Ministries, Apologetics, and Pastor. Biography : You can contact me direct karen@emergingconsulting.com I'd love to hear "What is your greatest parenting challenge?" Let's work on it together! Karen is a Parent Educator and Coach with e.Merging Consulting. Being a parent is the most sacred work of all that we do, and with the proper support and systems in place it is also the most rewarding. For more than 15 years she has studied parenting, leadership and feminine spirituality; through formal instruction, Master Mind groups, insatiable reading, self-study, webinars, and numerous seminars. Over the past 10 years she has facilitated and contributed to multiple intimate based groups, provided innovative individualized coaching and has dramatically transformed her own life through her tenacity and voracious love of learning. Karen comprehends the confusion, overwhelm, demanding lifestyles, and isolation of parenting in the 21st Century. Her unique skill set and perspective serve parents in fixing a specific problem, restoring peace of mind, raising successful children, and providing them a deep satisfaction in their parenting.

Karen is formally trained as a facilitator of Parenting the Love and Logic Way<sup>B</sup>, The Coaches Training Institute Co-Active Coach Training Program, and certified in Laura Barrb<sup>B</sup> Training.

She is the founder of The Inspired Mama, a company that focuses on the inspiration and well being of women and girls.

I am honored to be a mom to our amazing daughter Jaymie, and loving wife to my hilarious husband Jim.

Biography : Hello! My name is Laurie McPherson, and I am a School Counselor in Brighton, Colorado! I have been doing counseling for over three years now, and before that- I worked in a school as a substitute teacher for many years! I would love to come to your school or organization and help teach either the Early Childhood Parenting or Parenting the Love and Logic Way Curriculum. I have been teaching my parents in Brighton for the last year, and simply adore both curriculums. I 100% believe in Love & Logic for all types of families, and spend professional and personal time studying and practicing the skills. Call or email me for more information on scheduling and price. I am only counseling part-time right now, so I have a pretty open schedule! I work in Brighton, live in Denver, and can travel anywhere around the area. I can't wait to hear from you!

Biography : I am a registered psychotherapist with a master's in Forensic Psychology and a 2nd year doctoral student. Currently I am preparing to take the licensure exam in the state of Colorado in the area of addictions. I have facilitated court-ordered groups in parenting in the past along with other groups and have found group facilitation to be quite rewarding for me as I watch those who attend grow and learn new skills. Currently, I am excited to offer the Love and LogicB. curricula as an independent facilitator now for those who want to engage voluntarily and I am in the process of applying for approval to facilitate for court-ordered clients. I look forward to working with you as an independent facilitator using the Love and LogicB. curricula.

Not a single one of her three sons or three stepkids has been able to avoid being raised the Love and Logic way. :-) She teaches classes for parents and early childhood teachers throughout metro Denver at a variety of locations. In addition to facilitating Love and Logic classes, Kerry offers parent coaching and marriage, family and individual therapy at her office in southeast Denver, Colorado.

With teaching experience since 2000 and a passion about staying current on the latest research and trends in parenting, Kerry's skills and training combine to be a valuable resource for parents. Her classes are full of stories, laughs and sometimes a few tears. She believes that Love and Logic classes change lives. They improve relationships and help create the strong families that parents long for.

I bring a variety of skills to your Love and Logic Early Childhood training. I taught elementary school for ten years, and I am a National Board Certified Teacher. I am a certified Love and Logic facilitator. I used this philosophy in my classroom, but it wasn't until my son became a toddler that I became truly passionate about this curricula. I have watched him become an independent, kind, and smart person. Moreover, I am having a blast parenting him. Having a toddler is fun and hilarious and challenging, and I am so thankful to Love and Logic, for making this time a joyful one in our home.

Michelle McGarry has been a pediatric nurse since 1988 and a pediatric nurse practitioner since 1993. She loves pediatric practice and her passion is supporting families in the parenting process. She has practiced both primary and specialty pediatric care. Michelle is very familiar with kids with special needs as well from both a health care provider and a parent perspective, having also raised a son with Type I diabetes. Michelle has used Love and Logic principles to guide parents for more than 20 years and feels the philosophy is superb and works with all kids and families, though some may take more tweaking than others. She is always willing to do that tweaking and be available for the families she serves. Michelle not only is a trained facilitator of Love and Logic, but with her years of pediatric experience, she has great insight into helping families as well as learning from them. She looks forward to meeting and working with you through Love and Logic so that you are free to love being a parent and not having to do battle with your kids, over anything!

Steven began facilitating Love and Logic curriculum in 2011. He provides his facilitation and coaching services in person, by phone and via internet, preferring to consult ONE-ON-ONE or as part of a team of professionals servicing a parent or parents who have recently separated, are divorced or are divorcing. His message to these parents is to encourage them to learn new tools to support their children, increase their own stress coping skills, keep adult issues between the adults, keep the children out of the middle, never bad mouth the other parent, and for the sake of the children, stay child focused while providing a safe, happy and healthy environment for them to thrive in and develop healthy relationships of their own. A customized tool and resource kit can be made available upon request.

I love kids! I have been a Sunday School teacher for 18 years. I served on the Women's Ministry Leadership team for my church for 7 years and I am a Life Group Leader. I have worked in management in the Corporate world for 25 years. My husband and I used Love and Logic to raise our kids (now 19 and 22). I want to take my love for kids and parents to the community through Love and Logic. My desire is to help parents enjoy the great gift of children by making the task of raising them

Hello, I am Ruthanne Waltz, and I am a parent educator for Parenting with Love and Logic in October 2017. I became a Love and Logic facilitator because I wanted help out children. I think one way to help our children is to improve parenting skills. I grew up within a family that used logic, but there was not that much love. When I became a parent, I discovered Parenting with Love and Logic. I have learned to use the tools taught to help me parent when it becomes difficult with my own children who are 6 and 4 year-olds. The program teaches parents how to let the children learn from consequences within a loving environment before they reach adulthood. My hope is that I can help you learn the skills that is offered by Parenting with Love and Logic.

Robin has spent her career serving youth and families in her community. She holds a Bachelor of Science degree with an Emphasis in Family Studies from Corban University and a Master of Arts degree in Counseling from Adams State University. She has worked with the Departments of Human Services in two counties, first with children and families in foster and adoptive care and, later, as a caseworker in child welfare. She has provided case management services for youth involved in the legal system, including becoming a Court Appointed Special Advocate (CASA). She has provided private therapy to individuals, children and youth, families, groups, domestic violence victims and offenders, and those with alcohol and drug addictions. Later, she transitioned to higher education and worked at both the community college and university levels providing career, academic, and personal counseling to students as well as focusing on improving the institutional processes to help college students be more successful. She later moved into administration and served as an Instructional Coordinator and as the Director of the Student Support Services TRiO program. Currently, Robin teaches 5th grade and is looking forward to advancing into K-12 administration in the future. She is the mom to five children

Love and Logic is a fun and interactive parenting solution. I have been using Love and Logic on both of my children for the last 10 years. My youngest was introduced to Love and Logic when he was 6 months old and the techniques are easy and effective even at an early age. By the time he was 2, the techniques were extremely effective and one UhOh and he stops immediately! I have been working with pregnant women and young families since 2004 in the capacity of a doula and childbirth educator. I have a strong background in public speaking and adult education. Our classes are enjoyable and with the curriculum Love and Logic provides, we spend much of our time laughing and discussing how to parent our children. Parenting our children doesn't have to be hard and I look forward to helping you on your parenting journey!

I am very excited to offer Love and Logic Trainings in our communities. I have been the Director of the Early Childhood Council for Yuma, Washington and Kit Carson Counties (ECCYWK) for 8 years. I have been a facilitator for Expanding Quality for Infants and Toddlers (EQIT) for 9 years and I recently became a facilitator for Touchpoints. I provide quality support coaching to pre-schools, childcare centers, and family child care homes in our communities. The mission of the ECCYWK is: To empower comprehensive, high quality, coordinated and accessible system of support for all children and families to ensure they are healthy and thriving. The Love and Logic trainings will be a great asset to our communities.
