Forest earned her Bachelor of Science in Applied Learning and Development from the University of Texas School of Education. While serving families as a Preschool Director and Director of Camps, as well as Youth, Teen & Family Programs Director, she utilized her behavior management skills daily. Forest trained her teachers and supporting staff in empathetic and direct approaches to limit interruptions and frustrations. Personally, these skills have helped her with conflict resolution with others and with her 10-year-old son. It is her intention that your family will thrive as well.

Curriculum : 9 Essential Skills for the Love and Logic Classroom

As a Certified Human Behavior Consultant and mother of 3 wonderful and challenging children, Karen's passion and drive is to empower and equip educators and parents with the tools to improve communication, increase productivity, reduce stress and conflict in our relationships. Karen's energetic presentations, seminars and workshop series have assisted individuals in understanding their own behavior traits as well as those of others to build more effective educational teams and improve relationships in their professional and personal life. Understanding human behavior is a foundation for understanding the motive and drive behind behavior. Love and Logic is the, "what do I do when they do it?" answer to challenging behaviors. Karen's presentations have been enjoyed by public, private and charter schools as well as other educational organizations in Michigan, Ohio and Indiana, noting that she was by far the most popular speaker we had.
