Biography : I have a Bachelors degree in Developmental Psychology from PSU, taught preschool for over 30 years, volunteered with Young Life, and currently am a CASA volunteer. I enjoy the variety of children and parents that I get to meet. As a parent and teacher, I needed to learn the best ways to respond to different situations in order to allow the children in my care to make their own mistakes, and solve (with Love and Logic) their own problems. I have seen children become kind, confident, problem solving, independent, people with the help of Love and Logic.
I believe kids are our future and they need to know that they can make choices that will effect their lives and the lives around them positively.

Biography : My interest in the Love and Logic consequence style of Parenting, started when my children were 11 and 16. I owned an in home childcare and it would also help with my business. My college education in Early Childhood Education and Child Development focused on children 6 weeks to 6 years. I enjoyed the Love and Logic sessions so much and valued how much I used the tools in my childcare business. When my youngest was in college I started to teach preschool, and I used the Love and Logic knowledge when teaching them. I started teaching parenting classes in 2000. My first one was with young parents raising their babies. This led to having the opportunity to go to Colorado and attend the seminars from Jim and Charles Fay. This was a life changing experience. I felt I had first hand knowledge of the curriculum. Sharing the parenting skills that so easily adapt to each family is also a great attraction to me. There is no one way to parent. Doing my 40 years of childcare and now taking care of my grandchildren has kept me focused on how important these life skills are. Have questions? Please call me. Thank you, Sherry

Biography : I've served in church ministry for 34 years. My first 13 years were in Youth Ministry working with families and youth. The last 21 years I've served as the lead pastor with lots of opportunities to work with all kinds of families. I have a heart for young parents trying to work through the difficulties of parenting and believe sharing the Love and Logic methodologies can make a significant difference in being able to enjoy your children and the role of parenting.
