FRUITS TO THE RESCUE

Dermatologist Rosemarie Ingleton had no intention of starting a skin care line.

But as requests from her dermatology clients grew, she realized it was necessary.

"I listened to my patients first," she says. "I helped them with all the stuff that was bothering them, and then I created something I thought could replace what they were using." The result was a moisturizer and skin boosters that contain a mix of superfruits that are a nod to her Jamaican heritage. Made for everyone, the formulations—including a complexion brightener that is excellent for treating hyperpigmentation—especially target issues that plague melanin-rich skin.

LASHING OUT

Huda Beauty has teamed up with beauty expert and influencer Kahlana Barfield Brown for the final lash in its collaboration series. The Kahlana #21 is a wispy strip with a crisscross design that adds volume without being over-the-top. Wear the lashes daily to evoke your inner Kahlana, which means you will drip with swag and effortless cool.
