AVOID A CHRISTMAS CRISIS

Foodie treats are a big part of Christmas for pets and their owners. But the chaos of the season can often mean that pets have access to food that is entirely unsuitable. Hopefully you'll have lots of tasty treats in stock to tempt their appetite but here are some of the things that need to be kept out of reach during the holiday...

CHOCOLATE

If it is wrapped up underneath the tree, or hanging from it a dog is likely to find it! Baking and dark chocolate are the most toxic although there are differences in how sensitive individual dogs are to chocolate and just an ounce of chocolate per pound of dog's weight can be lethal. Signs are vomiting, diarrhoea, thirst or seizures at high doses.

ONIONS

Can be present in stuffing and if the dog gets leftovers it could be a concern. Generally it requires 0.5% of the dogs body weight in onions to be eaten before toxic signs are seen. Smaller amounts can cause changes in blood though. The most common sign is anaemia due to red blood cells being destroyed. Cats can also experience onion toxicity.

GRAPES

Fresh/dry sultanas and raisins can all cause toxicity so keep them away from the fruit bowl, cake and mince pies! As few as 5 grapes caused the death of a 8kg dog. Signs can take 6-12 hours to develop. Signs are shivering, abdominal pain and thirst, progressing to kidney failure.

XYLITOL

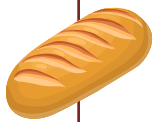

Sugar substitute found in lots of sugar free products and even peanut butter. Signs can cause hypoglycaemia - low blood sugar and may cause liver failure. Look out for weakness, vomiting and lack of coordination. If you suspect your dog has eaten xylitol best to get veterinary advice as soon as possible.

MACADAMIA NUTS

Nuts such as unshelled walnuts could cause gut obstruction. Macadamia nuts are toxic to dogs, causing vomiting, tremors and weakness. It is not usually fatal but it is recommended that dogs that eat more than 1-2g/kg or around half an ounce of nuts for a Cocker Spaniel should be seen by a vet, even if they have no obvious signs.

BREAD DOUGH

If you make Stollen it can also contain nuts and dried fruit! Fresh bread left to prove (expand) can be attractive for dogs to eat. Problems occur as it continues to expand in the stomach, potentially causing it to twist and block off gas release and exert pressure on the lungs, or the production of alcohol ethanol which causes intoxication. Signs are swelling of the stomach and abdominal pain, collapse or seizures. Sometimes the dough will have to be surgically removed.

Mud Fever

Mud fever refers to a wide range of equine skin reactions, primary caused by an infectious agent called dermatophilus congolensis, which thrives in muddy wet conditions. Properly referred to as pastern dermatitis, mud fever is also frequently called “greasy heels” or “cracked heels” and is frustratingly common in wet weather.

The infection can stay dormant in skin, becoming active when the skin is compromised, usually by prolonged wet weather. Spores germinate and penetrate into the skin and spread in all directions from the original site. This causes an acute inflammatory reaction.

Field Paste 500ml, £17

Suitable for both Field and Stable kept horses

Red Horse Field Paste Antifungal Sole Dressing cleanses and conditions the underside of the horse's foot, helping frogs and soles stay strong and healthy. Its ingredients promote the natural growth of healthy tissue, especially when rubbed well into the surface of the frog.

The active agents also help the hoof and frog tissue to toughen without being caustic or damaging. This dressing contains eucalyptus oil which is a highly effective antifungal and antibacterial essential oil that helps to toughen weakened structures. It also contains zinc oxide which is a powerful but gentle antibacterial agent that fights bacteria and fungi and supports natural sole and frog growth.

This product has been formulated with Green French Clay, which is an antibacterial clay that gives the paste its unique consistency. The thick, paste-like consistency allows Field Paste to stay in the deep grooves of the foot for longer than thinner solutions.

Sweat and dirt are lifted with ease and the subtle warming fragrance is both soothing and relaxing. The result is a happy horse who smells good too.

Leicester Animal Rescue

Leicester Animal Rescue have many dogs and cats seeking kind, permanent homes. All are microchipped and up to date with flea and worm treatment, and adults are neutered. Please note we only re-home within the Leicestershire area.

Keke, 1 year old is a lovely girl who came to us from the pound. We have no history on her so we will rehome her with older children and she would probably suit a pet free home. She walks well on a lead

Rose, 4 years old is with us due to her owner's ill health. We do not know what she's like around children or animals, but she is a friendly girl

DEFRA announces new round of RDPE

James Douglas
Bsc (Hons) MRICS, FAAV

DEFRA has announced a further round of the RDPE Growth Programme. This could however be the last round of grants. The Business Development, Food Processing and Rural Tourism Infrastructure grants are now open to new applications. An Expression of Interest (EOI) form must be submitted before midnight on 16 February 2020.

The grants will fund projects which create new jobs, increase business turnover and improve productivity related to growing businesses, rural tourism and food processing.

The three grants of up to 40% are as follows:

The Business Development Grant – ranges from £20,000 to £175,000 and is intended to help rural businesses grow through expansion of existing or new projects.

The Food Processing Grant – only available to food and drink businesses and ranges from between £20,000 to £175,000.

Rural Tourism Infrastructure – ranges from £20,000 to £175,000 and is designed to improve capital expenditure in rural areas by encouraging tourism.

The minimum grant threshold has been reduced to £20,000 to encourage smaller businesses to apply.

The Rural Payments Agency (RPA) will assess all expressions of interest, and will look for projects that meet the national and local priorities for funding. This means grants are not awarded automatically to an applicant.

There is a two part application process (starting with submitting an 'expression of interest') to tell RPA about your business and how the grant could help you with it.

If RPA assesses that your expression of interest is suitable, they will invite you to submit a full application.

For further information or advice on the process, please contact James Douglas for a no obligation consultation, initially by email to jdouglas@kingwest.co.uk or by telephoning 01858 411535
